I The University

Divided in two parts, the 1971 Chinook shows the effect of spatial and time relationships on the student. Washington State University rests on a hill in the middle of the small isolated community of Pullman. It provides the setting in which students meet turning points that will change the rest of their lives. The cover design, Pullman Junction, appears at the southeast entrance to town, while visitors from the northwest are welcomed by Burgerville.

Burgerville, I love you.
My tongue is hanging to my knees.
Your graveyards are my lovenests.
I see sweet bones hungering beneath rusty marble people in Road Runners.

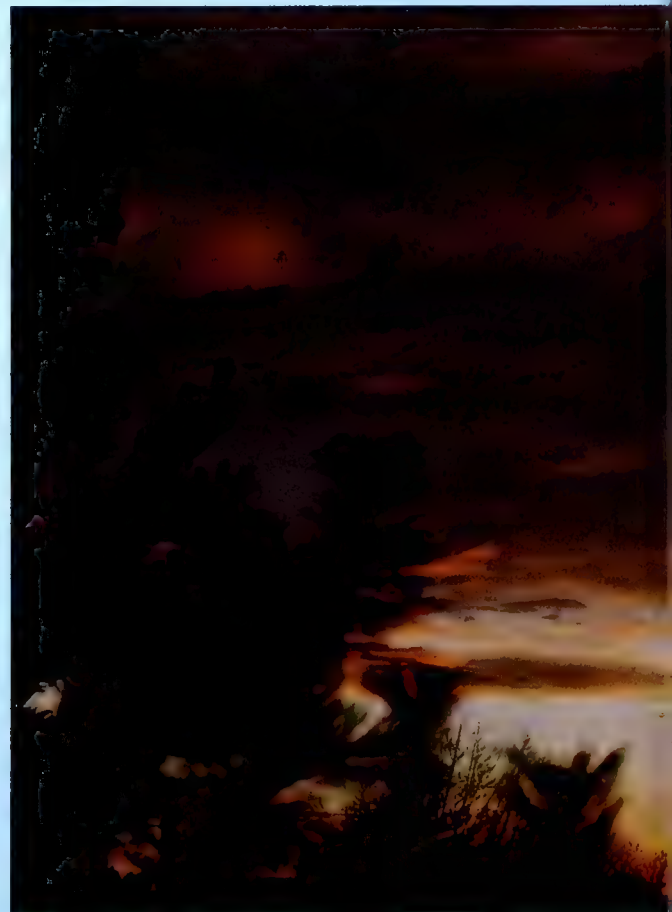

Your carrion-violets of spring excite me no end.

My skin wrinkles past unsuspecting empty police cars,
cops gone to buy a fifth,
antennas up in the air,
waiting,
with tips of toes on pavement,
to cruise so cool . . .

Burgerville, I am going to murder you.
I am going to take your early morning scarf of heating winter smoke clouds out and I'm going to wrap it around your blistering neck.

There are people

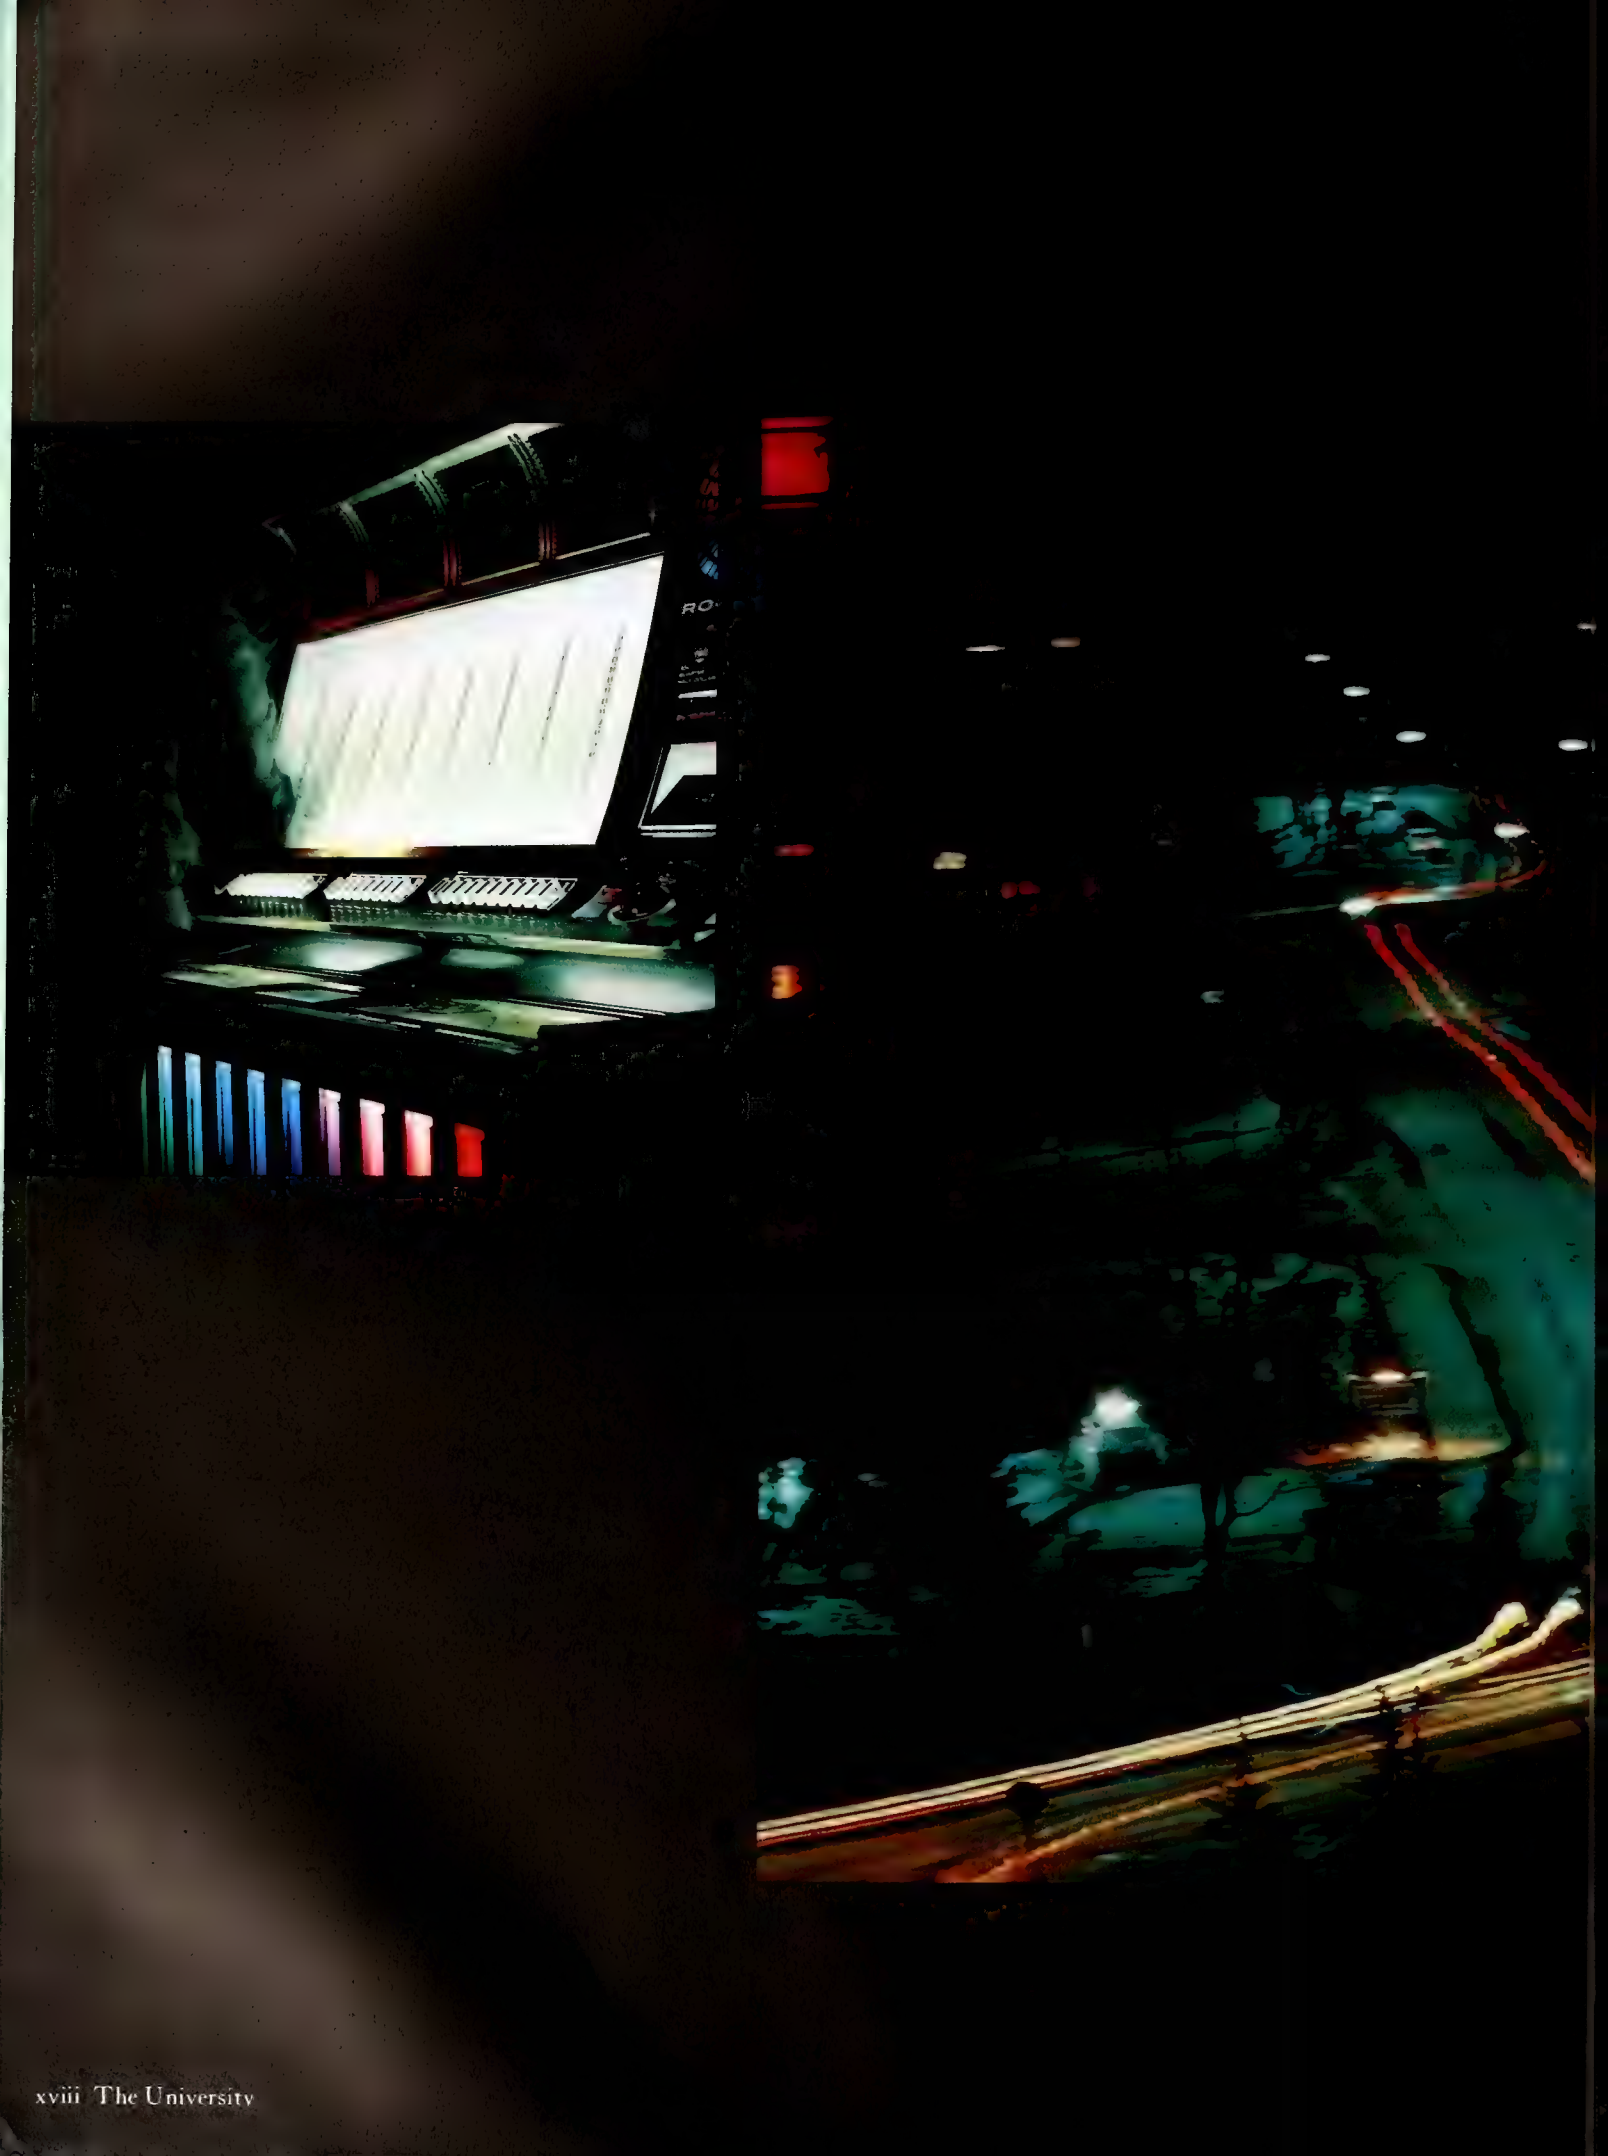

Burgerville, I was born in your cemetery.
Crawling up your sidewalks,
I saw the Hill: a thousand tiny diamonds suspended in sea-green gelatin quivered at my approach.

I put my hand out to you and you melted and turned to sand and ran through my fingers.

Your night time golf courses smiled beatifically at my summer willow trees, leaves shaking.

Leaves me shaking,
as I crawl towards your tower.
Bryan, I love you.
Flag at half-mast.
Daytime now,
your red light gone out.

The library,
your woman with her statue,
archives full of movies,
and so many pages.

Kiss me with your knowledge
I must get a hamburger.

The Racism Workshop was an attempt to communicate

On October 7 and 8, an event took place unique to WSU—an attempt to come to understand racism as a major problem of today by means of peaceful workshop. Films, panels, and open discussions created a chance to test our college intellect.

What is Ralph "the Bod" Burrelle Anyway?

A first for the Cougs—a male Homecoming Queen candidate—was sponsored this year. Other new experiences were the football game, dance, and carnival held in Spokane instead of at home. One tradition that withstood the revamping was the Homecoming concert with a sell-out for singer Neil Diamond and comedian Sandy Baron.

The Spice Of Campus Living

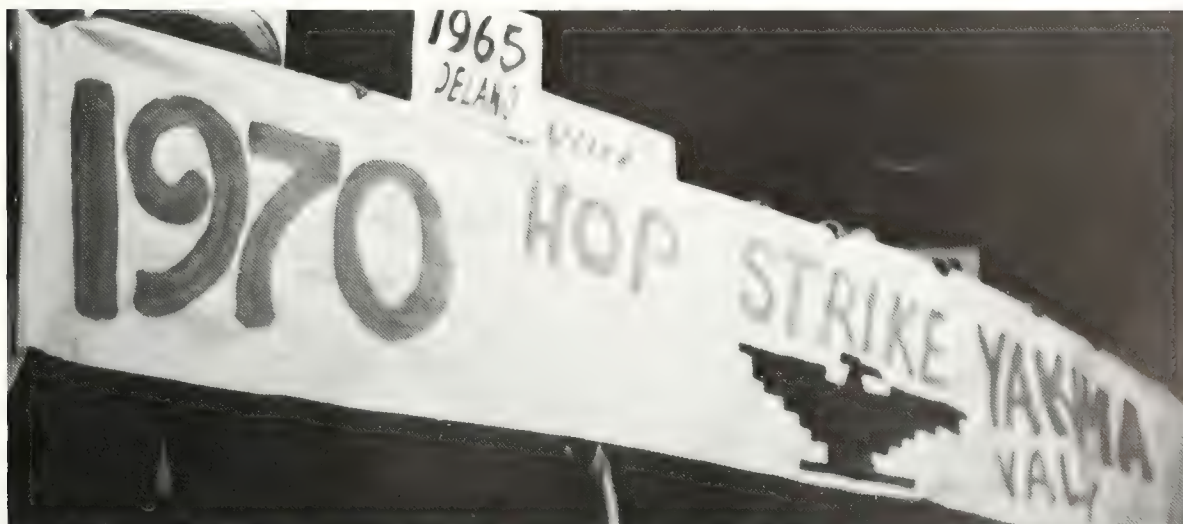

Woman's place in present society is progressively undergoing change. No longer is she regarded by society as a lesser human being, but rather as an individual with an unique and distinctive character. Today is certainly the first day of the rest of her life.

Concern is the major step to becoming an involved individual. Although total commitment is not mandatory to demonstrate this concern, it is required if change and betterment of a situation is to be achieved.

Spring Events Cause Apprehension

The second Racism workshop and the lettuce boycott occurred early in the spring. These two events caused apprehension. Questions were raised concerning possible uprising and student dissatisfaction on the WSU campus.

Washington State holds 75th Commencement Ceremony

Twila Dawn Marsh of Spokane became the 50,000th graduate of Washington State University during commencement exercises this year. Miss Marsh was among 1,955 candidates for bachelor's degrees, 147 for master's and 50 for doctorates during WSU's 75th commencement ceremony. The 50,000th graduates' selection was determined by information fed into a computer.

WSU opened on January 13, 1892, in a one-story, $1,500 brick building, with 29 students and five faculty members. The university now has more than 100 major buildings and 200 smaller structures. Washington State also has eight colleges and a graduate school, and had 14,510 students enrolled last fall.

Caps and gowns, which have grown into a graduation tradition, were not mandatory for graduating seniors going through the hot and sunny ceremony. This year, some participating graduates elected not to wear the regalia and instead donated the rental fee to a charity of their choice.

Athletic Council

The Washington State Athletic Council serves as an advisory group to Athletic Director Stan Bates and to University President Glenn Terrell. It is composed of nine members, including faculty, student, and alumni representatives. On the recommendations of the group the new multi-purpose coliseum was realized and bids for construction were awarded. The Council was also instrumental in the selection of a new Athletic Director. Special emphasis during 70-71 was placed on trying to have burned-out Rogers field revamped after the disaster of last year. Washington's legislature has not appropriated the funds, as yet, but the Athletic Council is diligently working toward an early reconstruction which will lead to Cougar football returning to Pullman.

WSU Invades the Big Eight but comes home loser 48-31

Bernard Jackson provided the offensive spark, averaging over nine yards per carry and scoring three touchdowns. However, the Cougar defense could not seem to contain the Kansas Jayhawks as they nailed down a victory with two touchdowns in the final period.

WSU, Only PAC-8 Team to play on Astroturf since its initial use, opens season at home in Spokane's Astropit.

Trailing 16-6 at half time, Jack Wigmore came off the bench to fire up the Cougs in a 44-16 victory over Palouse rivals—Idaho. The second half was highlighted by a 63 yard punt return by Cougar linebacker Lionel Thomas for a WSU touchdown.

WSU visits Big Ten and Duffy Daugherty's Michigan State Spartans

Rain and wind hampered the Cougar offense that saw Ty Paine throw four interceptions. Michigan State seemed more at ease under the conditions and made use of the loser's mistakes in defeating the Cougs 28-14.

"Giant Killers", Oregon, next opponent for Cougars

Nothing really seemed to work for the Cougars against the U of O. Although the Cougs seemed to have a potent offense, they just could not put the ball over the goal line even with as many chances as they had. The Cougars returned to Pullman with their first conference loss 28-13.

14th ranked Arizona State proves to be somewhat overrated

The Cougs played an explosive game down in the warmth of the Arizona desert but just did not have enough fire to win. The defense picked off interceptions and recovered fumbles, but ASU also picked off four of Ty Paine's aerials as the Cougars came up short 37-30.

Golden Bears prove why they were ranked in the nation's top twenty

The Cougars held the California Bears scoreless for the first minutes of the game, but it was not enough. The Golden Bears rolled up 45 points while the Cougars could not seem to penetrate the end zone not even once, despite several opportunities.

OSU's Offense Proves Too Much For WSU's "Mild Bunch"

Cougar fan Terry Smith tackles Stanford back Eric Cross trying to avert another Indian touchdown but even his efforts fail Heisman Trophy winner Jim Plunkett proved why he was to deserve the honor, leading Stanford to a 63-16 scalping of the Cougars. A 96-yard touch-down toss by Plunkett broke the all-time NCAA record for total offense in three seasons of play. These were the only things that fans in Spokane had to cheer about except for a rather spirited fan's attempt at a possible game saving tackle.

Always powerful UCLA shows that even in an off season the Uclans still have their stuff

The UCLA Bruins ended a streak of close games with a 54-9 victory over the Cougars. The defense did not seem to be able to handle the Bruin offense, while the Coug offense was being stopped by a fired up team. The Cougars were able to score one touchdown and Don Sweet, WSU's record breaking kicker, managed one field goal in the first half.

Traditional rivals score what seems to be traditional win over Cougars

The Huskies and the Cougars met once again to decide who would take home the Apple Cup. Washington won the trophy for the second consecutive year as the Seattlites had little trouble in defeating the Cougs 43-25.

División Title

The 1970 WSU Frosh football team opened the season in the annual Shrine game at Lewiston against the Idaho Vandababes. A four-game winning streak by the Couababes was shattered by a fired-up Idaho team which emerged victorious 21-6.

The Couababes then rebounded from the previous loss to completely overwhelm the Ducklings of Oregon. The WSU freshmen shutout their southern opponents 44-0. The defense and offense had great performances, as the score might indicate, with the latter scoring six touchdowns and a field goal while the former picked off four Duckling aerals and did not let the Oregon team get closer to the WSU goal line than the 27 yard line.

The Couababe defense again shone as the WSU frosh team defeated the Oregon State Rooks 27-6 at Rogers Field. The first half was not too impressive for either team as the score at the gun was 7-6. The Couababes came back out on the field a different team and completely outplayed the Rooks 20-0 in the second half.

The final game of the freshman season pitted the WSU Couababes against the Washington Husky Pups. Two long touchdown passes by WSU quarterback Chuck Peck, of 67 and 89 yards, broke the game wide open in the second half as the Couababes went on to win the Northern Division football championship 30-20.

Cross Country Led By Two All-Americans

Coach Jack Mooberry's and John Chaplin's 1970 Cross Country team highlighted a fairly good year with the emergence of two All-Americans. Mark Hiefield and Don Smith received their honors by placing 17th and 13th in the national Cross Country meet. These two runners were 2 of 5 who participated from the PAC-8 Conference.

Led by Hiefield and Smith, WSU scored a win over California in their only dual meet, 21-34. The Cougars also scored first in two invitational meets while placing second to Oregon in the Northern Division and PAC-8 Conference meets.

Wrestlers Place 5th in PAC-8

WSU captured 5th place in the PAC-8 Wrestling Championships held in March in Bohler Gym. This was the culmination of a not-too-successful season for the Cougs, under Coach Les Hogan. The Cougar Squad was 4-8 in dual matches during the season. In the PAC-8 tournament four men qualified for nationals. Ron Crisman qualified in the 126 division, and Bo Carlile in the 177 weight division. However, none of the quartet were able to place at the National Tournament in Auburn, Alabama.

WSU's gymnastic team increased its record from '69-'70 of five wins and five losses to a record of six wins and two losses for the '70-'71 season. The gymnasts improved their average meet score by 20.10 points over the previous year. In the PAC-8 Regionals, WSU upset Stanford and was able to escape the cellar position. Dan Holtman represented WSU in the finals by being the first WSU gymnast to place in the Regionals.

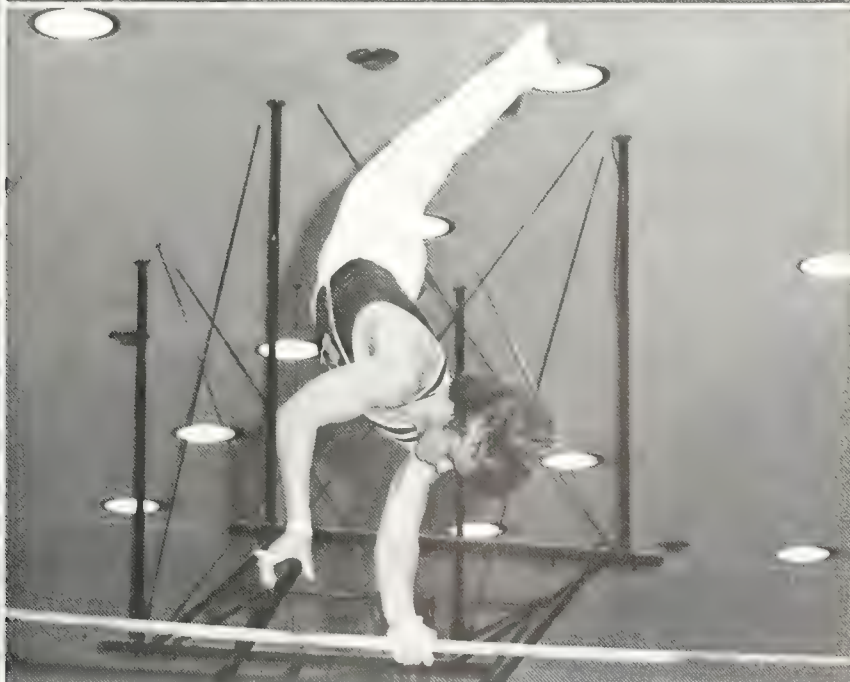

WSU's gym squad was comprised of 80 percent freshmen and should have good prospects for the upcoming season. Bob Peavy, '69-'70 coach, is to return for the '71-'72 season after being on sabbatical leave.

Cougs Take Third in Far West Classic

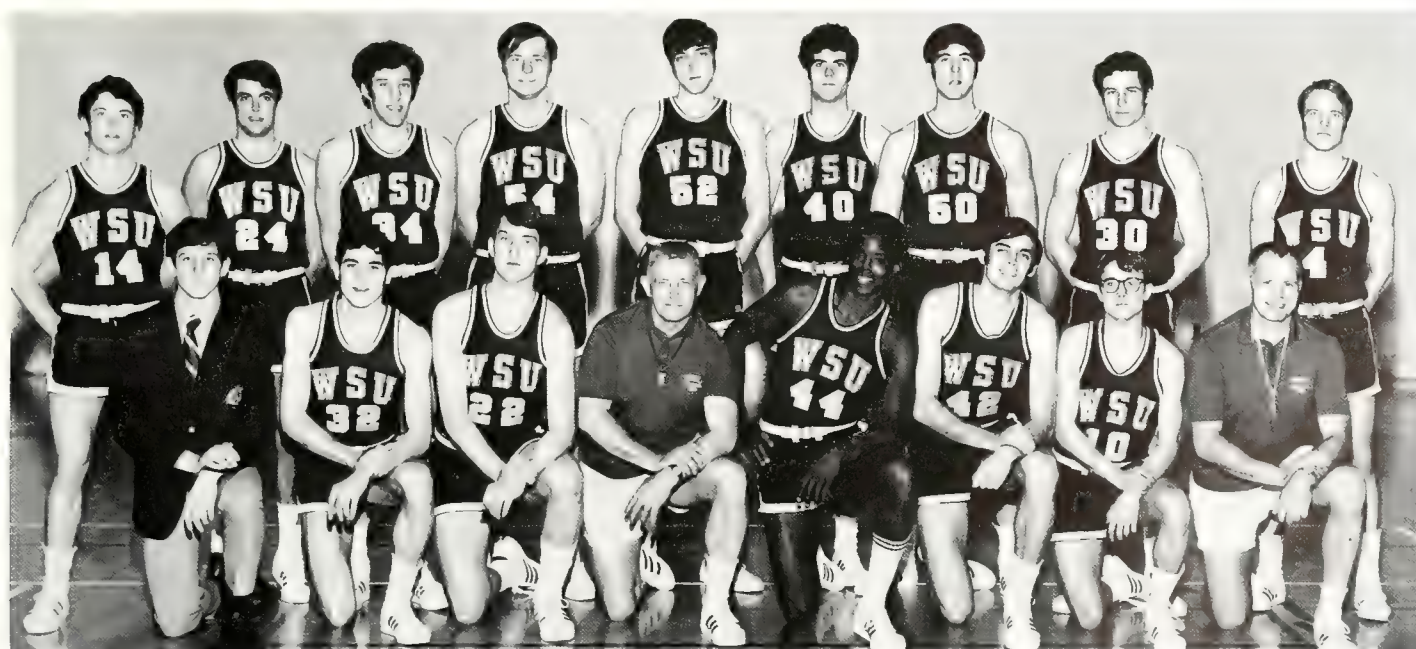

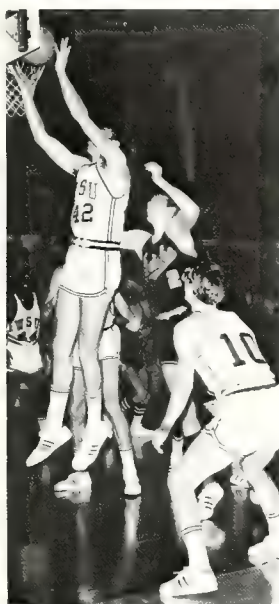

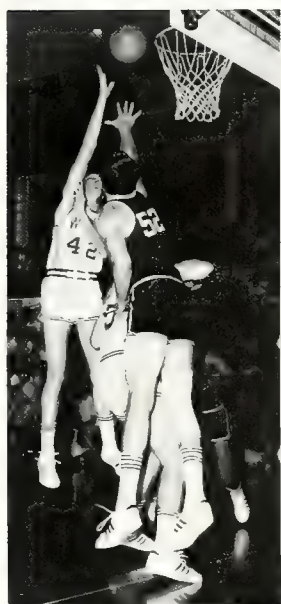

Jim Meredith leads Cougar scorers with 18.0 average

What seemed to begin as a fine season for the WSU round ballers, by the middle of March looked somewhat like a disaster. The Cougs finished the season with a 12-win 14-loss mark after winning nine of their first eleven non-conference games. This was the first time since 1965 that WSU had a record of less .500 then the cagers were 9-17. The Cougs ended up tied for the cellar in the Pacific Eight Conference with the Stanford Indians with a 2-12 mark.

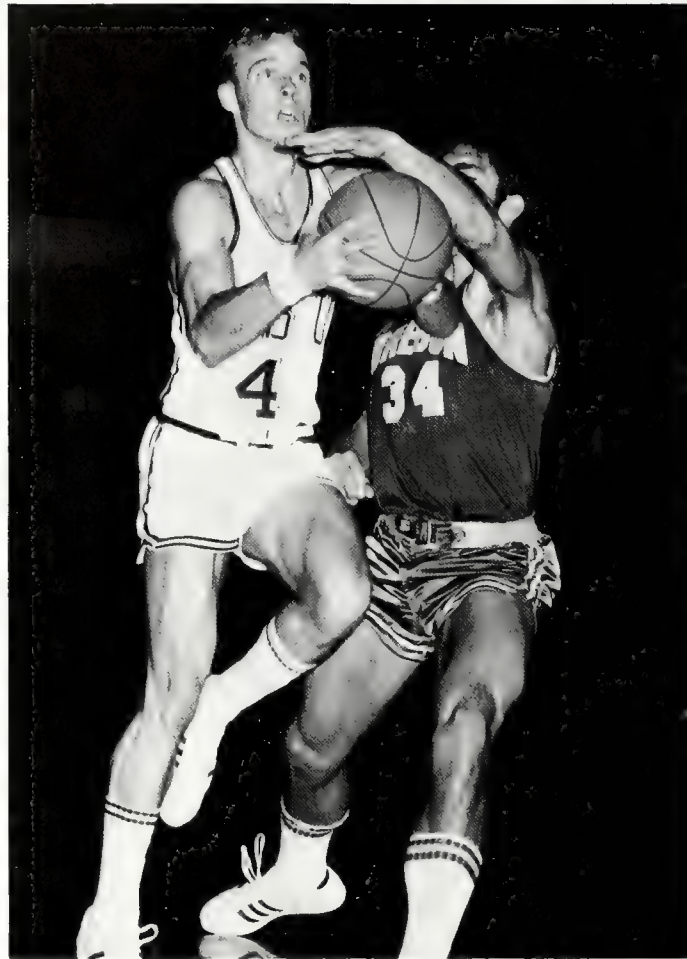

The Cougars' only wins in the Conference were against Stanford once and the Washington Huskies, both at home. They nearly upset the number one ranked UCLA Bruins but were only close, losing 57-53. The '70-'71 season was also highlighted by a game being called with 13 seconds left on the clock after Cougar fans repeatedly threw debris on the court. The crowd was given a technical foul, but still the debris poured onto the floor. The result was inconsequential, in that the USC Trojans took home a 75-64 victory by playing only 39 minutes and 47 seconds.

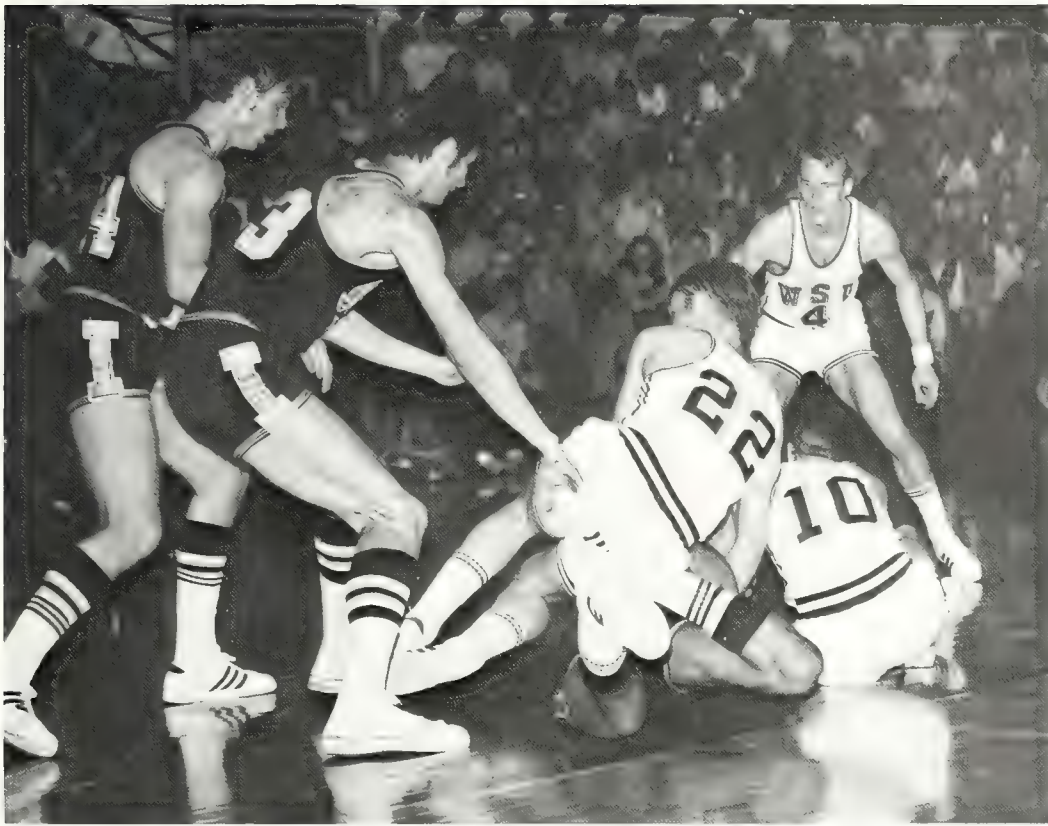

Dennis Hogg became the seventh leading scorer in WSU history by scoring over 1,000 points in three seasons. Jim Meredith came up short of joining the thousand-point club with a total of 989 points. Meredith was selected by his teammates as captain of the '70-'71 squad and also was an honorable mention selection to the all-Pacific-8 team. He also led the Cougs with an 18.0 average, grabbed the most rebounds, and had the highest field goal percentage of 52.8. Meredith and Hogg tied for the most points scored in one game, with 28 each.

WSU Frosh end season with 20-2 mark

The WSU Couababe round ballers ended a very rewarding season with a 20 win 2 loss record. The only losses the Couababes sustained were to Yakima Valley College, which was a very strong contender in the Junior college race, and to the Oregon State Rooks who are always a tough team to beat through the years. The '70-'71 season's record brought the Frosh basketball squads' record to 134 wins against 17 losses in the last seven years, six of the losses coming in the '69-'70 season. This is a percentage of 887 which is very good considering the strong junior colleges in the area and the other always strong Pacific 8 teams.

Dave Meredith, whose brother led the varsity cagers, was among the top three Frosh players on the '70-'71 squad. Bob Neill, and Eric Hays also led the Couababes toward their outstanding season. These three should add a great deal to the '71-'72 varsity team along with the other Freshmen prospects from this year's team.

The swimming team experienced a successful season, breaking eight school fast time records. They displayed an overall steady improvement with a 7-5 win-loss record. Inspirational award went to Jim McCarry. Outstanding swimmer award was presented to Brad Storey who made first place in the Canadian National. He also came away as high point winner, and made the Pan American Team representing Canada.

The water polo team was considered a separate division from the swim team this year. Most members participated with the swim team in addition to their water polo efforts. A relatively young team, it was comprised of one junior and one senior with the remainder freshmen or sophomores. In addition to fall matches the team involved itself in a spring season. Overall outstanding players were Graham Unwin, Glen Yorem, Jim McCarry, and Don Yeilding.

WSU Rodeo Club

The purpose of the WSU Rodeo Club is to encourage and make possible participation of interested students in the care, riding, and showing of horses. The group also strives to bring together people of various backgrounds to share this experience. All 125 participants are voluntary members of the club.

The Rodeo Club is divided into three active areas: Rodeo, Drill, and Horseshowing. Events during the 1970-71 school year included a fall Horseshow, a spring Rodeo held during Parents' Weekend, and various dances and parties.

Golf team has 52-19 record

Team participation in 10 inter-collegiate tournaments with fields ranging from 4 to 32 teams were experienced during the season. The win and loss record of 52-19 was the best record of a Cougar golf team in several years.

Highlights of the tournament season were a 6th place finish out of 32 teams in the Stanford Intercollegiate Invitational tournament played on the tough Stanford University courses, and a 2nd place finish in the Northern Division tournament beating both the University of Washington and Oregon State.

In the final competition of the season the Cougars finished 7th, beating the Washington Huskies in the PAC-8 tourney. During the season the Cougars beat every intercollegiate team in the Northwest with the exception of the strong University of Oregon team which finished 2nd in the PAC-8.

Olsen Breaks Hurdle Record in WSU Indoor Meet

Plagued by injuries and illness throughout the season, the WSU track squad finished the '70-'71 season with a 0-5 dual meet record. WSU's leading high jumper, Peter Wright injured an ankle in the Seattle Indoor meet and was able to win only one clear cut victory during the season against the University of Washington, clearing 6'10". Against Oregon the Cougs fell apart due to a flu bug which infected nearly the whole team. On the whole, the '70-'71 season was a disappointing one for the Cougars.

The highlight of their dismal season was the Northern Division Championships where the Cougs took a surprising second. Despite the injuries and illness WSU received some fine performances from pole vaulter Jack Ernst, sprinter and long jumper Norbert Payton, and hurdler Dick Olsen.

Soccer

The purpose of the Soccer Club is to promote the game of Soccer at WSU and to encourage the spirit of international understanding of the sport.

A tradition of congeniality and friendship exists within the club, offering a person who joins the thrill of competing in a fast and furious game besides a companionship with others similarly involved in the sport of soccer.

A greatly improved WSU tennis team scored a 10 win, 7 loss season record for '70-'71. The team, however, was only 0-3 for the conference and finished eighth in the PAC-8 championships. Several matches were played indoors during the season due to Pullman's foul weather. Steve Docherty and Dan Johansen led the team as a double combination and as individual winners.

The team competed in the Boise Invitational where the players picked up two wins and one loss but were unable to play for the championship due to bad weather. The Cougar netmen took four straight matches to win the Inland Empire Collegiate Tournament, which was held in Pullman during May, to highlight the year.

Judo / Men's Bowling

The WSU Judo Club was a co-ed group consisting of 24 members. During regularly held meetings members competed and practiced with one-another. All learned the basic techniques of the sport and sportsmanship was the goal. The club participated in a tournament in Richland in November.

The Men's Bowling Club consisted of 18 members in the '70-'71 season. Members were chosen after fall tryouts. The traveling squad was made up of nine members, two 4-man teams with one alternate. Matches were held with Idaho, Big Bend CC, Gonzaga, and CWSC. Brian Lewis represented the squad at the Northwestern regionals and the Nationals, held at BYU where teammate Jim Porter won the singles event with a 716 series.

The WSU Women's Recreation Association, part of a national organization, functions to supervise women's sports programs. These programs include women's intramurals, co-ed intramurals, intercollegiate sports, and the performing art of Fish Fans. Fish Fans, a water oriented performing group, held demonstrations during Parents Weekend.

During the '70-'71 school year the WRA held a candy sale to help finance the intramural program. The WRA also sponsored use of a universal gym and initiated a program to familiarize people with the facility. The WRA held a meeting called "React" where members and interested women could participate in different activities.

In the future the WRA plans to have a co-ed ski meet at the North South Ski Bowl. Also, the organization is planning to have a Gym Gam in the beginning of the fall 1971 semester for freshmen and all new students, where these girls can get acquainted with WSU, the organization, and its members.

Cougars Win Northern Division Title

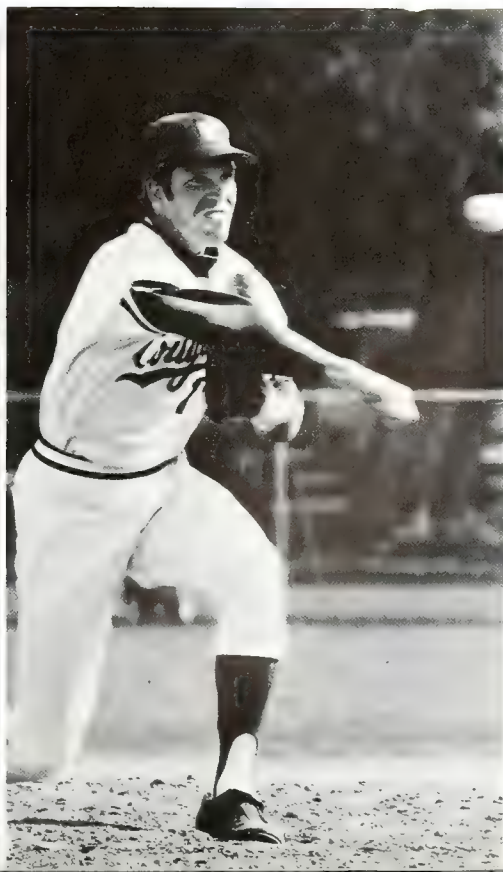

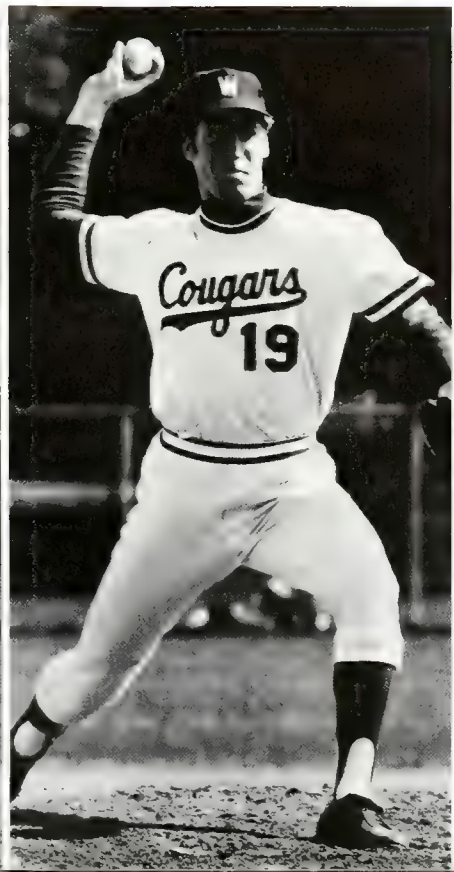

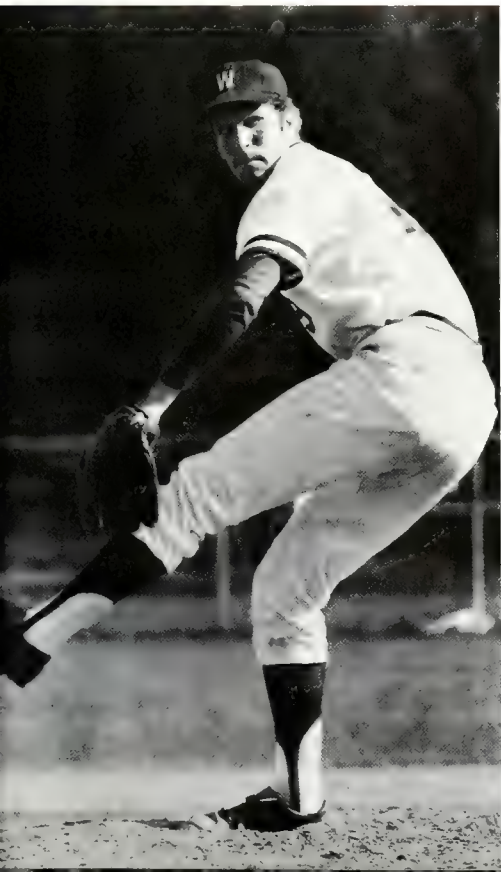

WSU's baseball team finished a highly successful season with a 34 win, 15 loss record. The Cougs finished atop the Northern Division of the PAC-8 with a 7-8 record in Conference. The Cougs forced USC to the seventh and final game of the conference playoffs before losing 6 to 3, thus barely missing a chance to represent the Pacific 8 Conference in the district playoffs.

Bobby Waits, Cougar's second baseman, named NCAA All-American, the third Cougar in recent years, led WSU to an NCAA record of 135 stolen bases of which he nabbed 59 for an all time record. Teammate Chuck Hawthorne stole 19 bases during the season. Waits also led the Cougars in hitting with a fine .385 percentage, consisting of a record 59 hits in 48 games. Outfielder Tom Thomas was a close second in hitting, with a .353 percentage. Thomas led the Cougs in home-runs with 8.

Joe McIntosh was the top hurler for the Cougs in the '70-'71 season. McIntosh had a record of 10 wins and no losses and an ERA of 2.27, best in both departments. The most used pitcher, Murray Gage-Cole, with 97.2 innings pitched, was a close second with an 8-3 record and an ERA of 2.67.

The Cougars will lose only four starters for the '72 season. Shortstop Manny Perez, second baseman Bobby Waits, and pitchers Murray Gage-Cole and Mike Gomez.

Rowing Club

A New sports organization was formed during the '70-'71 school year in the form of the WSU rowing club. The group consisted of approximately 30 active members, who spent most of their time building a club house to store their shells and other necessary equipment. Three shells were donated by the University of Washington in the club's drive for supplies. Contractors on Lower Granite Dam, near the club's practicing area on the Snake River, donated the lumber to build the club house.

'71-'72 promises to be an active year for the Rowing Club. Rows are being planned with other PAC-8 teams in order to participate in a full season schedule.

College of Economics and Business

The departments connected with the College of Economics and Business strive to keep up with developments of the nation's economy. Individually and through the Bureau of Economics and Business Research, the faculty members engage in active research on current changes and new issues. Speakers and authorities of various fields make appearances at WSU offering important insights. A Business Development Program encourages interaction of interested students and faculty with the off-campus business community.

College of Sciences and Arts

WSU's Sciences and Arts, largest of the eight colleges, served as home for 3,884 students at the peak enrollment of 1970-71. Two deans coordinately administered 21 departments, one school, and 20 programs. Dr. B. Roger Ray led the sciences areas. After four years away, former staffer Stephen R. Mitchell returned to WSU in September, 1970 in charge of all social sciences and humanities areas.

During '70-'71 five hundred WSU students were electing the freer curricular way of general studies. Much in the public eye were Black Studies, Chicano Studies and Native American Studies. Rocketing into giant enrollment was Environmental Science.

College of Vet Medicine

The College of Veterinary Medicine maintained areas of expansion throughout the program in order to accommodate more students interested in the field.

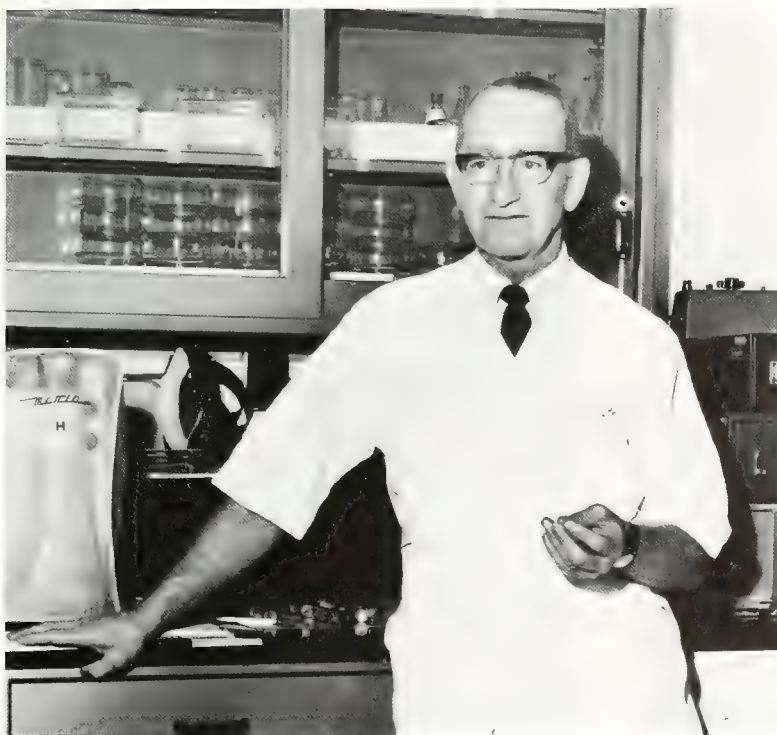

Widespread public interest in the multitudinous roles of the veterinarian—nutrition, economy of livestock industry, and care of animals—increased as the demand for capable veterinarians persisted.

Communications

The Editor

As editor of the 1971 Chinook, Gary Schell's job involved organizing and directing his staff to meet each deadline with the publisher on time. He aimed at establishing an office environment where congeniality and joint effort would make the production of a first class yearbook possible.

A fifth year student majoring in business administration, Gary completed his degree in Agricultural Economics in 1970. Previously, Gary had been a staff member for four years, before accepting the position of editor.

Combining hard work, talent, and long hours to publish an annual relevant to the changing university community was Gary's primary goal.

Chinook 1971

The Student Publications retreat was held in the late fall at Camp Easter Seal on Lake Coeur D'Alene. It provided the Evergreen, Chinook, and Student Photographers a chance to get acquainted with one another and strengthen communications within their own group.

The retreat encompassed many experiences; several trips to Slim's, a missing clapper in the reveille bell, a side excursion to Spokane to see the WSU-Idaho game, and an opportunity to plan seriously for the upcoming year's publications.

Vol. 76 No. 108

-Letters to the Editor-

The Daily Evergreen, the student publication that has bounced this year between the liberal editorship of Nola Cross and the conservative one of Gary Eliassen, will be piloted next semester by Dave Farrar as a result of yesterday's Board of Student Publications meeting.

Farrar, a junior in communications and political sciences, was selected on the second ballot, receiving seven out of twelve votes. His closest contender, David Mathiason, received five of the final votes.

During a half-hour interview with the Publications Board, Farrar stated that he wants sole control over the editorial page but that he would strive to make the page a forum for various campus opinions by allowing guest editorials and viewpoints.

His other plans for future coverage include continued coverage of minority groups as news value warrants and the formulation of a "beat" system within the paid editorial staff so that the reporters will cover the same topics all semester, thus creating "semi-experts" in different fields.

Farrar also stated emphatically that one area the Evergreen can not neglect is coverage of the Pullman community.

"We have to realize that Pullman is not isolated from the university and for this reason warrants extensive coverage.

When questioned by the board about the strained relationship that has existed in the recent past between the Evergreen editorial staff and downtown merchants, Farrar stated that he hoped to provide adequate, objective coverage that would not warrant dissatisfaction by the merchants.

However, he said that if it came to a choice of freedom of reporting what is newsworthy and the personal opinions of the merchants as to what should be printed, he "would not prostitute myself to the desires of the community merchants simply to sustain their advertising.

Mathiason, presently senior staff writer, stated in his interview that the Evergreen should turn more "critical eyes to the campus and community."

He explained that statement by saying that students should be made more aware of how admini-

Senate recommends change in 1972-73 starting day

The ASWSU Senate voted by a slim margin last night to recommend a change in the academic calendar to begin class on Sept. 18 and end on June 2 in the 1972-73 school year.

The calendar will come up for a vote by the Resident Instructional Staff today.

Also the Senate reversed an action it took last week on the composition of the intramural athletics committee and decided not to conduct a poll of the student body on the U.S. military action in Cambodia.

In making its recommendation on the academic calendar the Senate selected from three options proposed by the calendar subcommittee of the Educational Policies Committee.

The first option would set the start of classes in 1972 on Sept. 5 with the first semester finals week falling before Christmas vacation. The second semester would begin about the middle of January and end on May 14.

The second option, which was accepted by the Senate, would begin classes on Sept. 18 with the school year ending on June 2. The third option is essentially the same as the second except that an extra week would be added to semester break and classes would end on June 9.

Conni Williams is next Evergreen editor

Conni Williams . . . new Evergreen editor

After two closed sessions, Conni Williams was selected Spring Daily Evergreen Editor at the Board of Student Publication's open meeting last night. Dave Mathiason, Molly Martin, and Ken Thiemann also applied for the position.

Following a closed discussion Williams tied with Mathiason 6-6 with one Board member abstaining. Mathiason suggested a "trial by combat" but the Board chose a second closed session. Williams was selected by a 5-7 vote.

During her interview Williams was questioned on editorial page content and structure, use of obscene words, and community coverage as opposed to campus coverage.

Williams said she would write the majority of editorials, but would not limit the page to herself. She would not use the editorial page for personal crusades or advocacy of a particular political party. Editorials should be concerned with the university issues she added.

"Whenever possible the editorial page should be creative, not just informative," Williams said. "However I would write some informative editorials and back them up with facts before drawing conclusions."

Williams stated the use of obscene words had no place in editorials and news stories. Another word would probably be more factual.

The other three applicants agreed with her. Mathiason however added that there was more latitude in a campus press because college students are less offended by such language.

Among other issues Williams stated that the Evergreen's first responsibility is to the students. But in addition it has an obligation to the community. To allow more community coverage Williams said she would try to expand the size of the paper rather than cutting coverage of other areas.

"I would not cater to the community though or allow them to pressure or influence the content of the Evergreen," said Williams.

All the applicants said change in the structure of the Evergreen staff could improve the paper. Williams suggested that there be one news editor with four assistants. Presently there are four news editors, one for each night the paper goes to press. She would also eliminate the positions of entertainment editor, feature editor, and assistant to the editor.

Williams is a senior staff writer for the Evergreen. She has been a paid staff member for three semesters. Her previous positions were depth reporter and campus editor.

Dr. Avery succumbs

Dr. Emmett L. Avery, 67, widely-known scholar and former chairman of Washington State University's English department and a member of the faculty here 34 years died yesterday in Spokane.

Dr. Avery retired from the WSU faculty in the fall of 1968 and this year had been living in Cheney and teaching graduate courses in English at Eastern Washington State College. He also served on the faculty of the University of Washington two years.

The body is at Thornhill-Geraghty and Langbehn funeral home in Spokane. Private services will be conducted in Spokane and a memorial service will be held in Pullman from the Community Congregational Church on Thursday, Dec. 17, at 3 p.m. with the Rev. Ted Edquist officiating.

City Council passes noise control ordinance

In an effort to do something about noise pollution, the Pullman City Council passed an automobile noise control ordinance last night.

The ordinance states, in effect, that the acceleration of motor vehicles will not exceed more than 82 decibels on the A scale. The measurement of the noise level will take place at 35 miles per hour and 25 feet from the center line. The scale is 92 decibels for vehicles weighing more than 6,000 pounds and 88 decibels for motorcycles of 125 cc displacement or more. The penalty for violation of this ordinance falls under the heading of a misdemeanor.

In further action the council approved the preliminary budget for 1971. It was pointed out at the meeting that the proposed budget leaves Pullman's reserve fund at a low point of $26,000. Therefore the council voted to review the budget on July 1, 1971 to look for areas where expenditures can be cut down in the various government departments and agencies.

Other actions taken by the council included authorization of bids for new traffic controllers in the central business district, authorization to exercise an option to buy 20 acres of land for a new park on Sunnyside Hill, dissolution of the Recreation and Parks Fund with the assets to be transferred to the current expense fund, dissolution of the Sewage Treatment Truck Reserve Fund with assets transferred to the Equipment Rental Fund, establishment of a trust fund for special purposes and a banking resolution designating Seattle First National, Old National Bank of Washington and Bank of Pullman as depositories of city funds.

Butch, Coffeehour top Senate agenda

The Senate is scheduled to decide the fate of Butch and the proposed ASWSU Coffeehour Committee tonight in an abbreviated session. Three new student senators will also be introduced and will officially take office.

Senator-elect Ralph Atkins, who defeated three candidates last Monday in a special election for senator-at-large will not take office until second semester. Atkins will replace Chris Jennings, who is leaving Pullman at that time.

The three new District 1 senators are Roger Madsen, Dean Beardslee and Dave Manus. All three were also elected Monday.

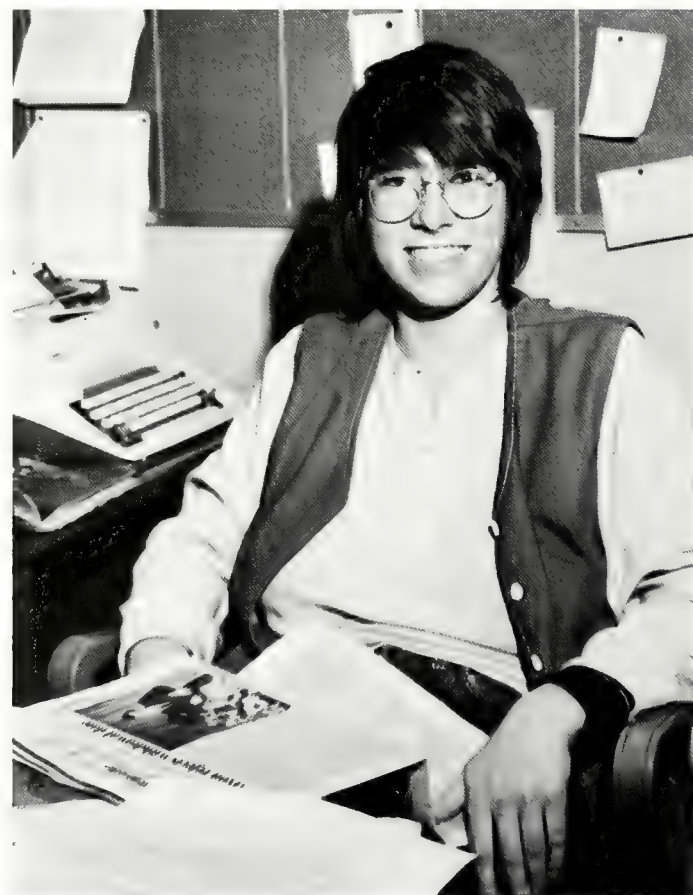

Also included in this week's senate agenda is a report from a committee which met with three Washington state legislators yesterday. The three state senators, Sam Guess, R-Spokane, Carlton Gladder, R-Spokane and Elmer Hundley, R-Thornton, met with members of the ASWSU Senate.

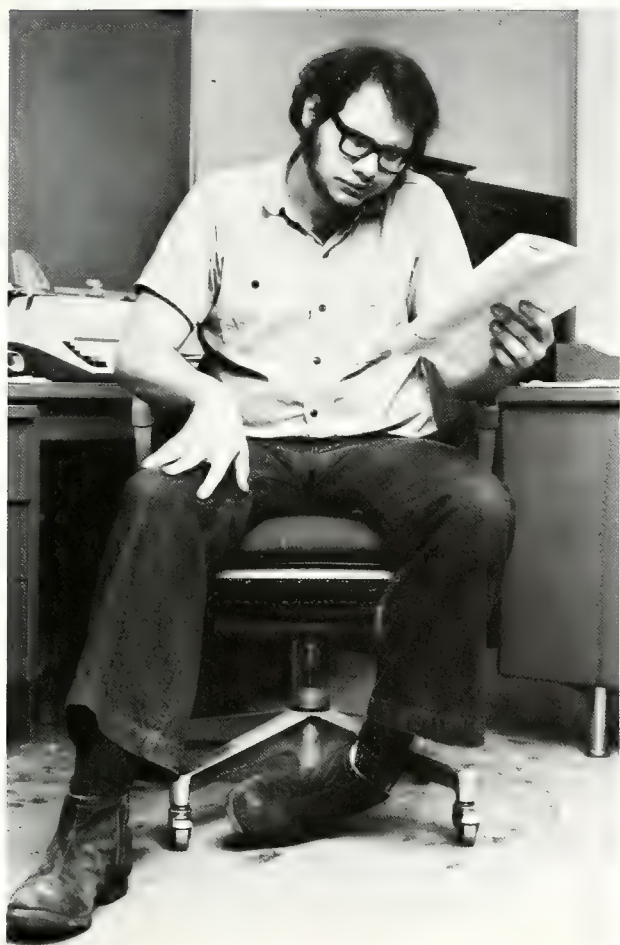

The Fall Evergreen Staff, which brought you their Famous Daily Evergreen Quizzes, invites you to identify the staff: Arlene (Sunny) Beam, David Farrar, Emmett Pierce, Alipius Chan, Terry Richard, Rich Watkins, Eric Mathison, Larry Eaton, John Webster, Steve Patch, Ed Bunn, John Webster, Bill Walker, Dean Radford, Dan Small, Lyle McGlothlin, Molly Martin, David Mathiason, Janelle Sisson.

Dear Reader. Hi! We're sending you our pictures so that you can see who we have been. To begin with we are two EE's, two Architecture students and one journalist. It all began a long time ago, almost a year now, . . . long after four gallons of wine . . . after the case and a half of beer and two cartons of cigarettes . . . after the tuna fish and dill pickle sandwich binge . . . even long after the three fifths of hard-core booze was gone . . . To begin again: When there were no diversions left—nothing was left—we five forced our heads together for a meeting of the (somewhat liquid) minds. For 48 hours we worked on the first issue, three of us lasted to see it completed with only three remaining issues.

Mark was and is the businessman who sold the advertisements. Bob and Greg discussed placement, lay-out, design and pictures to ad nauseam. At the same time they were feeding Steve ideas. Steve was always busy with his rapidograph pen doing funky cartoons. I was forever leaning back, lighting a cigarette and tearing my hair over the copy I was trying to make sense of.

The five of us at this time would like to thank the people who have helped us get out these four issues of this magazine: The ECC, who gave us a free hand and never interrupted our work; Jack Rupe and Wes Calvert of Student Publications, they put our magazine together (for the printer) and worried with us when we missed our deadlines; and all contributing writers, those with praise and with criticism, who tried to keep us on our toes and keep us together. Your's, GVT,RKD,MM,SNS,AGB (Greg Triplett, R.K. Depner, Mark McKay, Steve Snyder, Arlene Beam).

Gathered in the rubble of Arts Hall, third floor, where remodeled KWSU radio studios will be located are staff announcers: Ron Hardin (on ladder), Mike Makela (left, with microphone), Rich Howe, Bob Meyer, Charles Hinde, Jim Moll, Steve Miller, and kneeling, Bill Dunn, Tim Mellin.

Gary Elstrom, (left), KWSU-TV crew member, plays host in the TV control room to three KWSU radio announcers: Christine Johnson, who has a daily "Luncheon Date" program; Craig Savage and Mark Harvey.

KWSU radio announcers stand on the site of a demolished staircase which led to second and third floors of Arts Hall, now being remodeled into facilities for Communications, KWSU and KUGR radio stations. From Left: John Briebl, Brooks Burford, Craig Jones, Doug Hughes, and Keith Roberts.

Photo Research

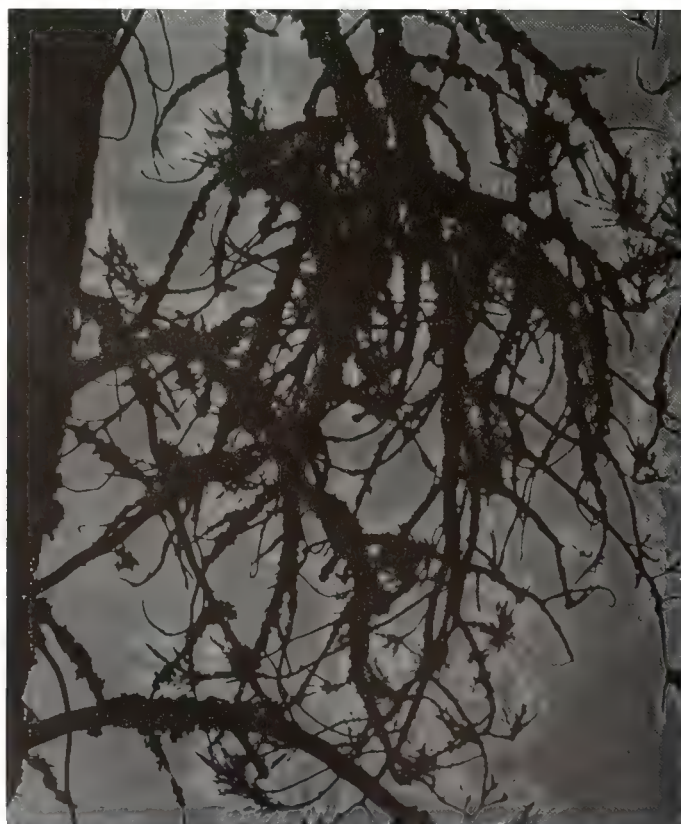

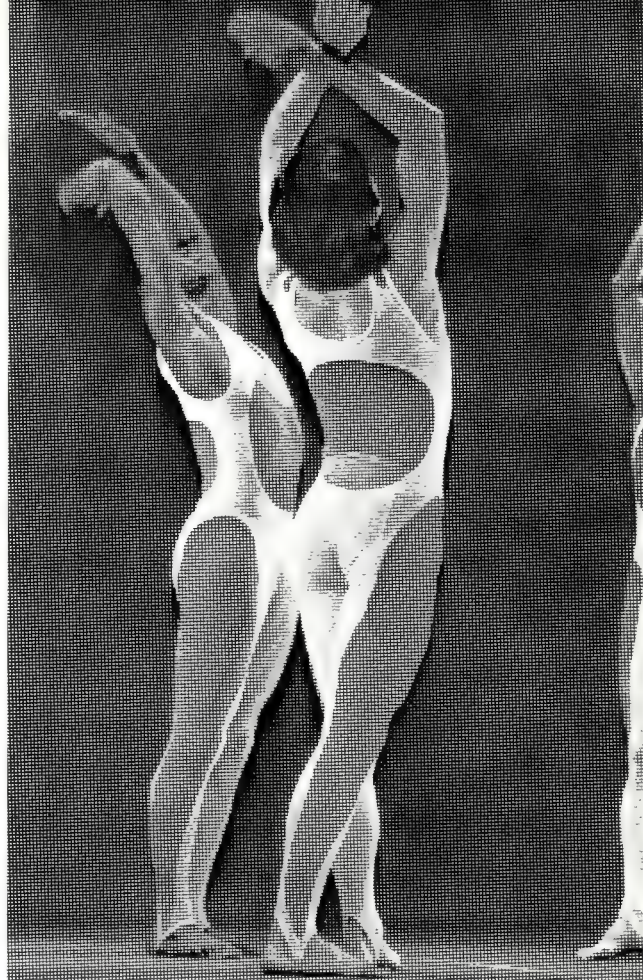

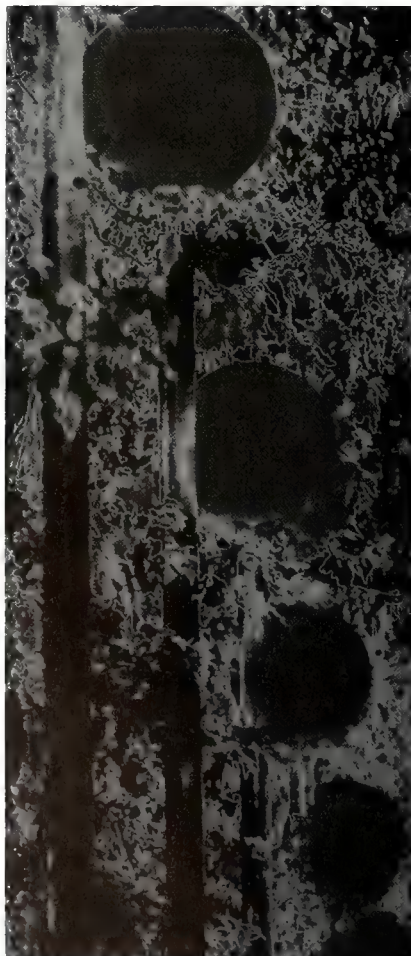

Photo research is a new section in the Chinook. Its purpose is to show various techniques that are available both through the photographer's skills and through printing procedures.

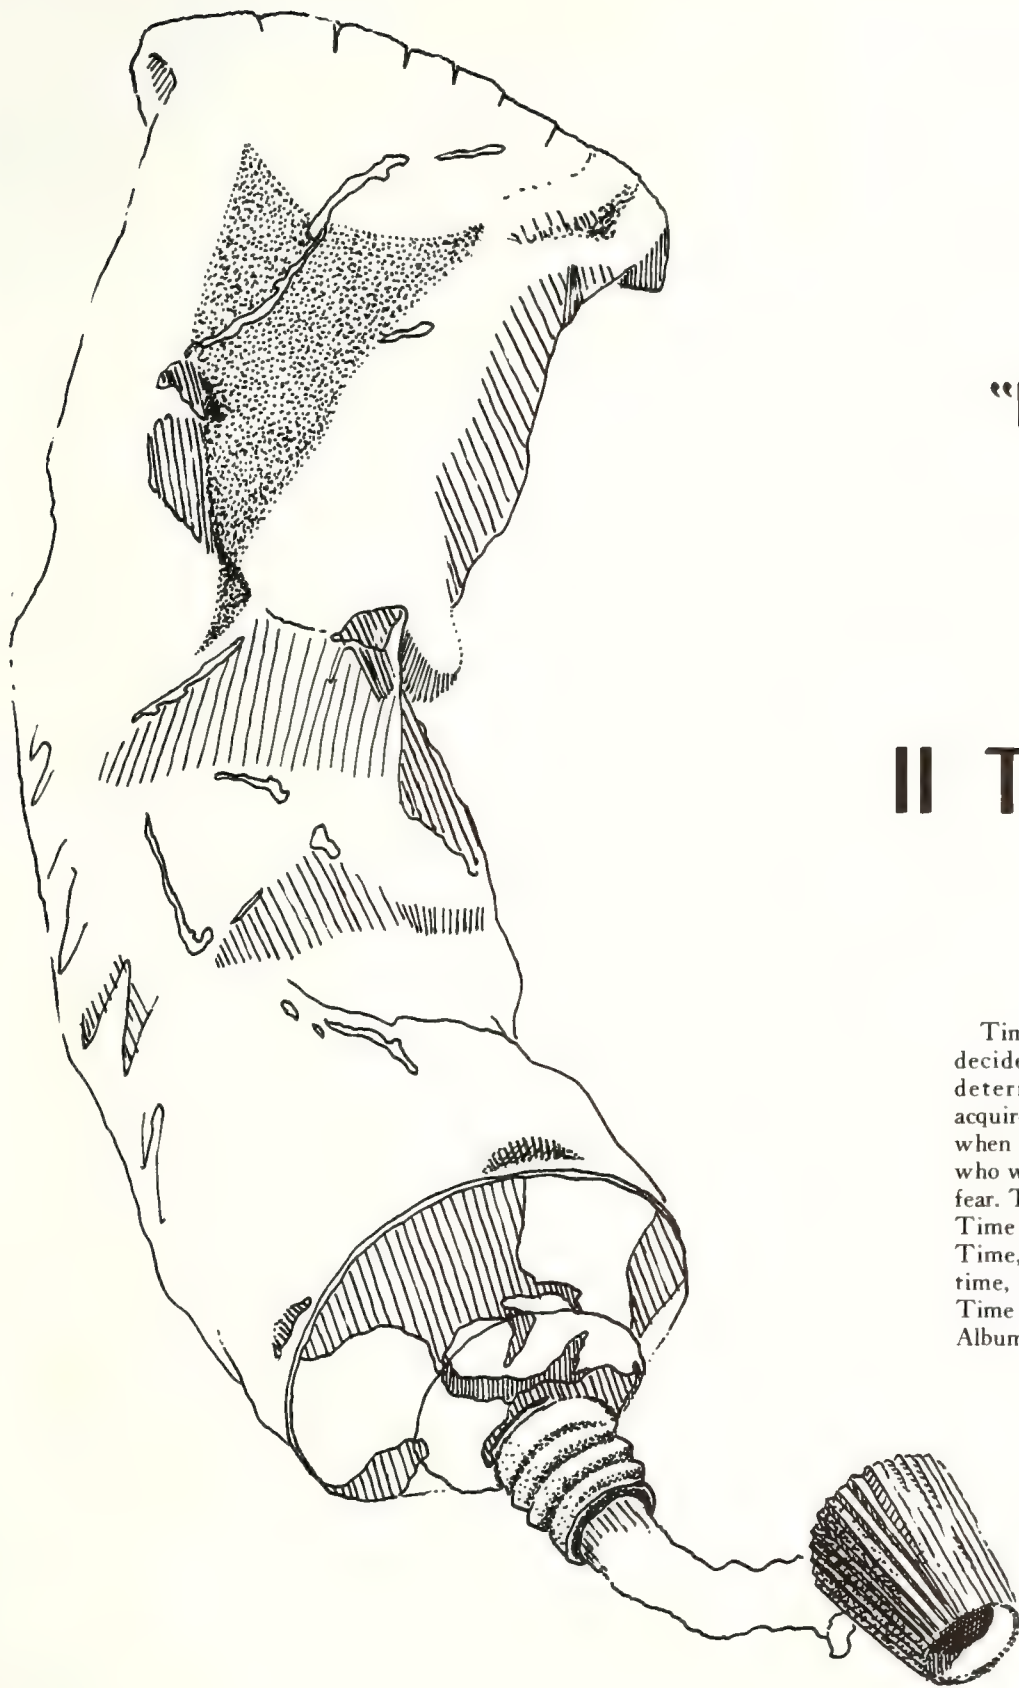

The student photographers are continually making new discoveries and finding new methods to create emotions and moods with their equipment.

The picture on page 193 was done by student photographers by splashing developer on the print. On the opposite page, top left, student photographers caught this shot with a time exposure. On the opposite page, top right, the printer created this effect by using a special screen called cross line. On the opposite page, bottom left, is an example of solarization, turning a whitelight on the exposed paper for three or four seconds before developing the picture further. This was done by student photographers. On this page, above, again the printer furnished these special effects, called mezzotint, and to the left, another called steel engraving.

II The People

Time orients the people. What students decide to do with their knowledge is determined by when and where they acquire it. The where is the university; the when is now. "Time is too slow for those who wait. Time is too swift for those who fear. Time is too long for those who grieve. Time is too short for those who laugh. Time, sweet time, precious time, lovely time, all the time. Time ... Time ... Time ... Time"—It's a Beautiful Day Album

We woke up in time to crawl.
Tick Tock kept on ringing time, leaned over his picket fence,
snapped the straps of his overalls,
and said it's time to learn to walk.

From the tallest tree,
far enough to see the face of the sun,
Tick Tock said to Toothless Grin,

President Terrell Dedicates Himself to WSU

Dr. Glenn Terrell's fourth year in the WSU presidency found him constantly in dedicated service to his campus through decisive action in complex university matters and in day-and-night conferences with and talks before students, staff, alumni, townspeople, special groups, the Board of Regents, and the Legislature. His administration was marked by endless accomplishments including the establishment of the new University Senate which encompasses representatives from nearly every segment of the university community. Additionally, he traveled widely as a responsible representative of the interests of WSU and higher education.

Dr. Wallis Beasley Executive Vice President

Sole occupant of this post since its creation in 1968 by the Regents, Dr. Beasley is the responsible administrator over all areas in any absence of President Glenn Terrell. During the year this overview has been needed many times, as Legislative and other pressing matters have called Dr. Terrell to points of crisis or concern. Dr. Beasley joined WSU in 1948 as a teacher of sociology. His exceptional range of service has included department chairmanship, an acting deanship and the acting presidency.

Dr. Allan H. Smith, Academic Vice President

An anthropologist, world known in this field for research and publications, Dr. Smith joined the WSU staff in 1947 as associate professor. It was in 1969 that his elevation came to the point of responsibility for academic excellence of WSU's eight colleges, the advancing graduate school, and the scores of instructional departments and programs, the interlocking units, libraries, summer sessions and short courses. Crunching budget crises and large and shifting enrollments and needs have scattered special thorns everywhere to threaten continuing and advancing quality. His is no easy task.

Claude Simpson, Registrar Retired

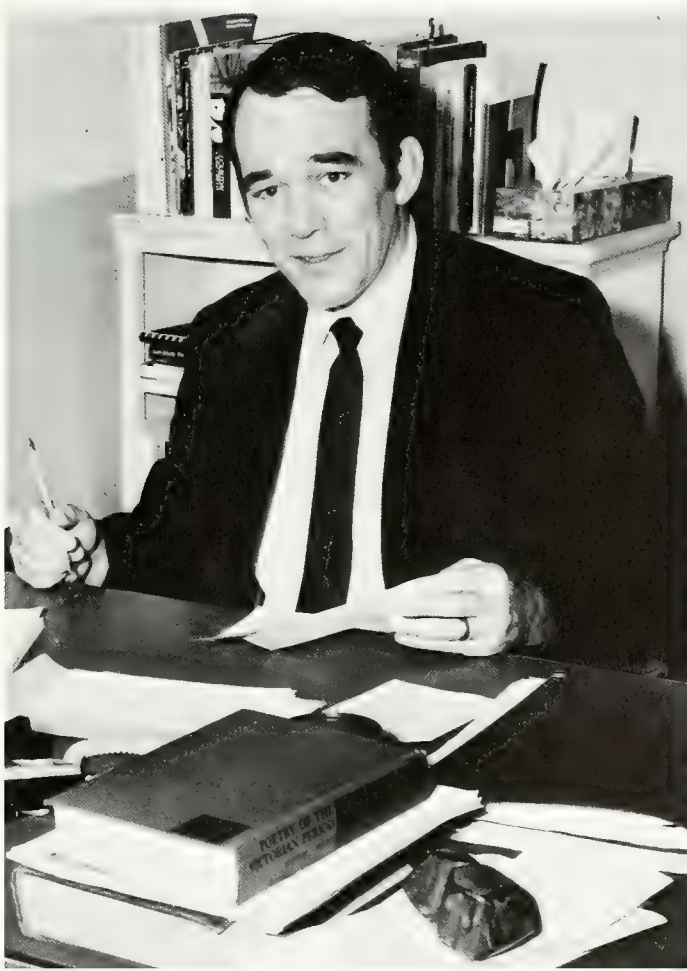

Claude Simpson, registrar since 1953 and 27 years with the WSU staff, retired after fall registration of 1970. Currently serving Australian education, Simpson is a consultant and supervisor of practice teachers for the government. He was responsible for helping establish computerized registration procedures at WSU. C. James Quann has been named WSU'S acting registrar.

Dr. Louis McNew, Coordinator, Curriculum Advisory Program

Dr. Vishnu Bhatia, Coordinator, Honors Program

Dr. Bruce Anawalt, Ombudsman

President Glenn Terrell described the ombudsman (complaint's center) post as "an effective method for more immediate response to members of the university community." Dr. Bruce Anawalt, WSU ombudsman, was on leave teaching in the co-WSU sponsored University Abroad and in research at the British Museum. In 1969 he was chairman of the Student-Life Council and has participated in numerous student and staff activities.

Dr. Lewis M. Magill, Chairman, Academic Standing Committee

Warren A. Bishop, Vice Pres. Univ. Development

A complex area of responsibility in difficult and stirring times has faced Warren A. Bishop, Vice President of University Development, with providing effective answers to obligations and needs of all parts of far-flung WSU. Primary aids include the Office of University Relations (including the News Bureau and Radio-Television Services), Alumni Relation, Physical Plant, Facilities Planning. Challenges to Mr. Bishop's talents have been many since his arrival in 1965 as assistant to the president.

J. Reginald Miller, Director of University Relations

Philip Keene, Director of Facilities Planning

Bruce Rutherford, Director of Physical Plant

Richard B. Fry, Manager of News Bureau

Dennis J. Morrison, Assistant to the President

Gordon Tuell, Manager of Radio, Television Services

The News Bureau is the official news and feature-gathering agency of Washington State University. It maintains a constant liaison with editors of the state and furnishes them with regular news, feature, and picture coverage of all important activities on the campus.

Regular releases are sent to press associations, daily and weekly newspapers, and radio and television stations, and, at regular intervals, to state, regional, and national magazines.

Governor Dan

1970-71 was a rather hectic year at times for both Governor Evans and Washington State University. Gubernatorial interest and involvement in WSU matters ranged widely. While in Pullman for the Moratorium and also for Earth Day, Governor Evans expressed this hope: "That WSU will increasingly be a center for creative involvement of the student community in resolving today's problems." Meanwhile, in addition to visits to Pullman, Governor Evans viewed Cougar teams in action in Spokane and elsewhere.

V. Lauren Shelton, Vice President Finance

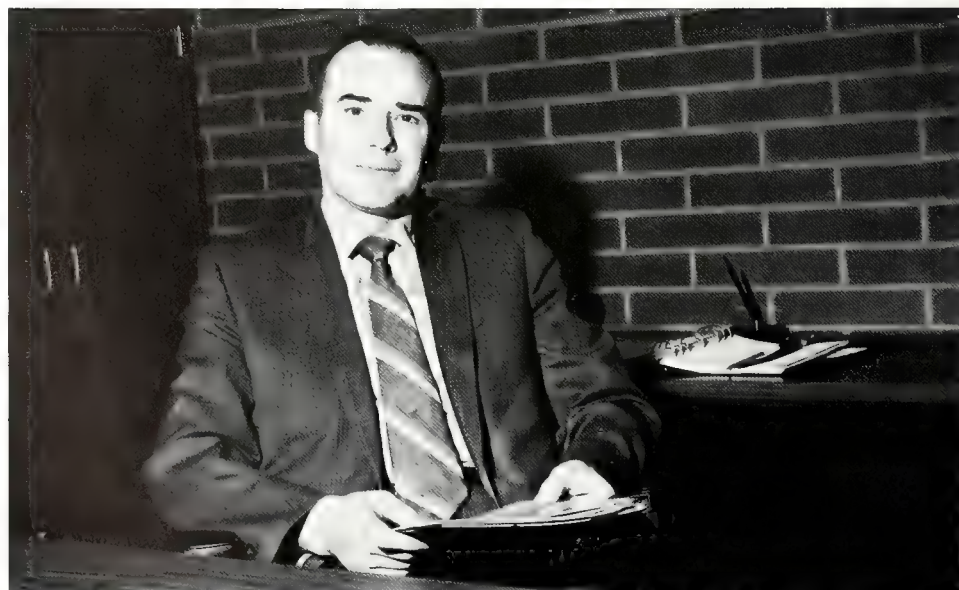

Like an individual and a family, Washington State in this past year, has had to operate within its means and yet on an even keel. The dollar stretcher (and treasurer of the Board of Regents) whose increasingly difficult job this has been is a staff member rounding out his 24th year, since arriving in 1947 as assistant to the business manager. Reporting areas to V. Lauren Shelton include: Housing and Food Service, Security Staff Personnel, Insurance and Retirement, Controller and Budget.

Howard E. Mount, Controller

William L. Poindexter, Food and Housing Services

Robert B. Smawley, General Services.

Dr. John C. Clevenger, Vice President, Student Affairs

The time nears two decades since Dr. Clevenger joined the staff as dean of students in 1952. His area of emphasis includes all phases of student life, health and government, including of course ASWSU, the CUB, the Health Service, and Placement. On half year sabbatical, Dr. and Mrs. Clevenger left Pullman Dec. 26, 1970, returning June 2, 1971, with Dean of Students Arthur McCartan handling duties during this time. Meanwhile on a house exchange which sent an Australian educator to Pullman, Vice President Clevenger was on the campus of Monash University, Victoria, Australia.

ASWSU Activities

The year proved to be an exciting and activity filled one, helped greatly by the efforts of ASWSU. The entertainment committee offered a variety of different performers and groups; Neil Diamond, Cold Blood, It's a Beautiful Day, besides several other concert guests. The Fine Arts Festival and Casino Royale also provided relaxing and fun opportunities for the students. The Political Union and Lecture Artists series presented a variety of speakers and lecturers. Parents weekend activities finished off the year's events.

Placement Bureau

The late Walter M. Bristol headed the Placement Bureau. The main objective of the Bureau was to aid students in acquiring jobs. Listings of available jobs and interviews, students needing jobs, and information on summer employment, teacher placement, and the Peace Corps, were offered at the Placement Bureau Center.

Dr. Ralph Buttermore, Director Student Health Service

The alumni staff contributes much for the alumni and former students of WSU. Fund raising, an information center in the CUB, and the offer of hospitality were main projects undertaken by the Alumni group.

E.G. "Pat" Patterson has headed the Alumni Association for 20 years, finding time to serve the university also by coaching varsity golfers and providing the legislature with background on the WSU program.

Campus Safety and Security Officers

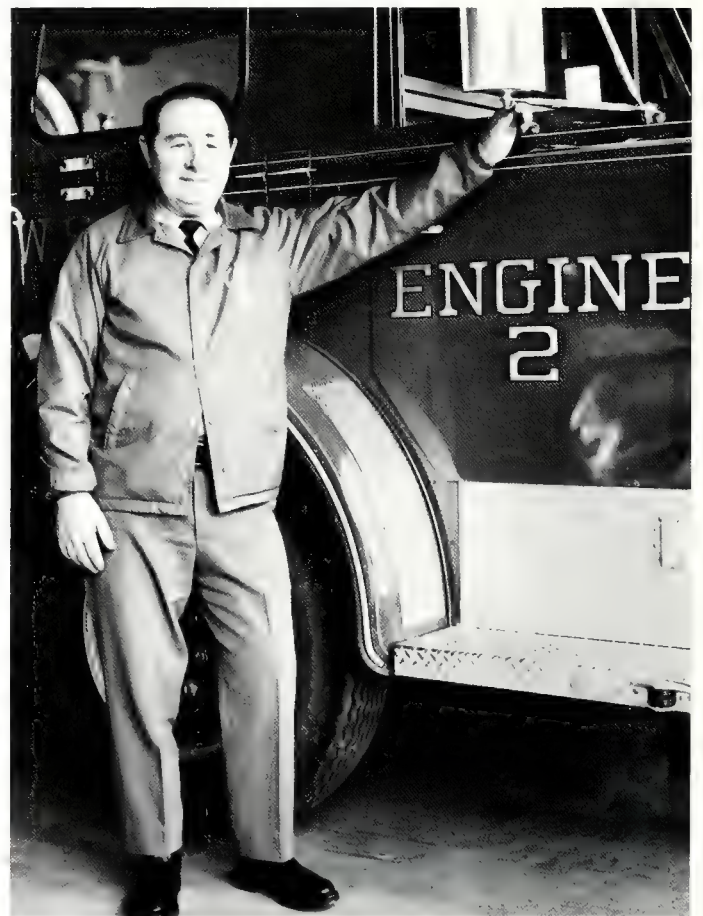

The members of the Campus Security Division were responsible for the safety of the WSU campus. All hours of the day and night the men cruised the area investigating any campus disturbance. The Division also provided on call service throughout the year, ready at all times to assist the WSU community.

Student Administration Controls Campus Activities

The ASWSU Senate succeeded in accomplishing goals for 1971. The Senate established the Draft Counseling Service in the Compton Union Building and a Draft Counseling Resource Board. The members also proposed reforms for the Campus Security Division and worked to set up links with State legislators.

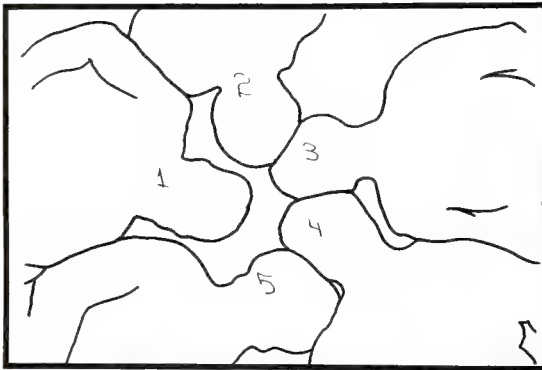

Support was given to petitions concerning the UFWOC lettuce boycott and to end genocide campaign. ASWSU also consulted with the Board of Regents and WSU Administrators pertaining to Policies and Regulations revisions and up-coming tuition increases.

Communication among the sororities and unifying the interests of fraternity and non-fraternity women was the goal of Senior Panhellenic Council. The members also strove to promote high scholarship and involve sorority women in intellectual pursuits.

Jr.-Sr. Pan Link Sororities

Junior Panhellenic represented the pledge classes of the fifteen WSU sororities. One delegate from each pledge class and each pledge class president composed the membership. Junior Panhellenic functioned to direct activities for the pledge classes and served as an outlet for discussion of Greek problems.

Coordinating the activities of the several major clubs in the College of Agriculture was the intention of the Associated Students of the College of Agriculture. The primary objective of the club is to provide a chance for members of the various clubs to meet with students in other fields of agriculture.

Clubs Stress Agriculture's Importance

The Agronomy Club worked in close association with the Department of Agriculture and Soils, expanding their knowledge by meeting with students possessing mutual interests.

The Agricultural Economics Club provides the interested members with a chance to associate with other persons in their field. The undergraduates are able to gain awareness of openings and opportunities.

Alpha Zeta

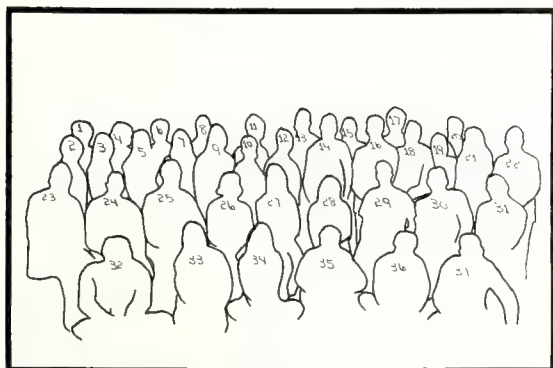

The Fraternity of Alpha Zeta has as its objective to render service to the student and to agricultural divisions of Washington State University through the promotion of the profession of agriculture.

Ag. Engineering

The members of the Agricultural Engineering Club were able to enhance the promotion of their profession through guest speakers and films directly related to their interest.

Livestock was the important factor for the Lariat Club. Involved in various competitions around the state, the club sent representative animals to the Inland Empire Angus Show and Sale, and the Northwest Pacific Barrow Show. Judging teams participated in the Portland International, and members of the club made a field trip to Canada to observe different types of ranches.

Besides these activities the Lariat Club sponsored all-school dances in November and February. Members also prepared and sold homemade sausage. The club enjoyed a productive year.

The Range Management Club has established its organization on the following premises that: understanding the ecosystem is basic to all of man's goals for use of the natural resources, range ecosystems are composed of communities of plants and animals in their natural environment. Ecosystem components—vegetation, soil, water, air, fire, animals, topography, temperature, solar energy, and man—are closely and completely interrelated, and any influence on one affects others. Range ecosystems are important sources of a variety of outputs, including water, air, fish, and wildlife, livestock, recreation, landscape and open space, miscellaneous other products, and a resource reserve.

Valuable experiences for future agricultural teachers and Future Farmers of America advisors were the aim of the Agricultural Education Club.

An overall perspective of the fields of Veterinary Medicine was the primary objective of the Organization of Future Veterinarians. Involvement in lectures, projects, and interaction between members provided members with a detailed view of the profession.

The purpose of the Horticulture Club was to promote mutual interest in Horticulture while providing entertainment and enjoyment. Closer ties between the faculty and students in the Horticulture Department were established by membership in the club.

The professional honorary for majors in agricultural education, Alpha Tau Alpha, provided an opportunity for interaction and exchange of ideas among those interested students.

Phi Chi Theta presented its women members with a chance to gain knowledge of the business field. Membership was based on sophomore standing and certification of a major within the college of Economics and Business.

Through membership in Alpha Kappa Psi, men in the Department of Business Administration, were able to enhance their knowledge in the field. Guest speakers at regular meetings contributed experience and background to the furtherment of the student's interest. The organization sent two representatives to the district convention in Coeur d'Alene in the fall.

Computers become an Important Facet of the Business Department

Beta Gamma Sigma is an honorary serving business administration, hotel administration, and economics fields. Members were elected because they had demonstrated high scholastic achievement throughout their academic careers. The top 10 percent of seniors, 4 percent of juniors, and 20 percent of graduate students made up the honorary's membership. They were eligible to seek a national scholarship offered by the organization.

Sigma Iota

Sigma Iota is an honorary fraternity composed of Hotel and Restaurant students. The annual "Bellhop" was successful as one of the year's major social events.

Special guest speakers and regularly scheduled meetings gave the members a chance to communicate among themselves and with leaders, preparing them more fully for professional careers.

Girls majoring or minoring in physical education, physical therapy, and recreation make up the membership of PEM club. Activities for the PEM club included the annual "Cross-Roads" retreat to Camp Easter Seal for staff and majors, and a Christmas party. The group also sponsored a guest speaker who discussed the chosen topic "Outward Bound."

Membership in the National Society of Interior Designers is acquired by declaring the field as one's major or minor. The year's activities for the organization began with a get-together chili feed. Later in November the group took a field trip to Spokane to visit with designers and designing firms. A similar trek was made in May to Seattle. Guest designers spoke at the club's meetings and helped establish communication between students and professionals in the designing field.

Persons majoring or minoring in Industrial Arts are eligible for membership in the Industrial Arts. Besides broadening friendships and having an opportunity to associate with others similarly interested in the field, the club concentrates on furthering the education of the student. The utilization of shop equipment, promotion of scholarship, and application of skills are the major club efforts.

Engineering Honoraries Recognize Top Students

Recognizing outstanding engineering students with respect to scholarship, sociability, and practicality was the purpose of Sigma Tau. The organization meets four times yearly. The fall pledge class elected as their project to collect garbage from the state parks. Members gained an opportunity to associate with department heads and earned recognition, valuable to their future employment.

Tau Beta Pi helped further credit the College of Engineering as an outstanding engineering school. One of the largest honoraries in engineering, Tau Beta Kappa held two initiation banquets. Recognition of members for their high-scholastic achievement was the main goal of the organization.

Omicron Nu Promotes Interest in Home Ec

Omicron Nu, the Home Economics Honorary, promotes research, leadership, scholarship, and interest in Home Economics. Several annual events for the organization included the initiation ceremony and banquet. Tapping into the Kappa chapter was held in the fall and again in the spring.

To provide a graduate with a firm and workable grasp of the dynamics of leadership, thus enhancing the usefulness of his scholastic achievement was the goal of the Army ROTC curriculum. In the accomplishment of this goal, the basic premises of the individual development was paramount.

Continuing changes took place in ROTC programs to match the requirements of the Modern Volunteer Army with needs and aspirations of qualified students. Also continuing stress was put on fostering development of innate student capability so as to best serve the social, and economic and military needs of the country.

Particular changes during the past year have been the adoption of several new courses. Political Science was offered to Freshman students in the second semester. This change particularly reflects the departments aim in providing the students with a well-rounded education.

Membership in Rho Chi is based upon outstanding academic achievement consistent with the goals of the society. The purpose is to promote advancement of the pharmaceutical sciences and encourage high scholarship. Dr. Coy W. Waller spoke on "The State of Knowledge on marijuana in the Pre-clinical Sciences" at the annual Rho Chi lecture.

Membership in the American Pharmaceutical Association is open to any student enrolled in pharmacy. The regular meetings provide guest speakers and various programs of interest for the group. The Association is affiliated with the Washington State Pharmaceutical Association.

Lambda Kappa Sigma is an organization for women in pharmacy. The sorority's main function is to promote scholarship, friendship, and to learn from each other by working together. The special project for the year was to sell laboratory coats to those within the department of pharmacy.

Kappa Psi is a fraternity for men students of at least sophomore standing in pharmacy. Advised by Dr. Melvin Gibson, the organization sponsored a program on drug abuse in the fall, with films, pamphlets, and speakers making up the program. Kappa Psi's main goal is to serve the campus and Pullman community by providing information and knowledge to those interested.

Alpha Epsilon Rho, the radio-TV-film honorary on the WSU campus, promoted scholarship and professionalism among its members. Major projects of the group for 1970-71 included refurbishing the KWSU remote unit van and sponsorship of the campus film series. Traditional among activities was the annual radio-TV awards banquet.

Pre-Medicine and Pre-Dentistry students who demonstrated an ability to succeed in pre-professional work were chosen for membership in Pi Tau Iota. Films and guest speakers kept the members informed of new and pertinent finds. Orientation planning for freshmen and sophomores interested in the program was undertaken this year, with initiation in the fall.

Promoting intercollegiate chess and tournaments was the main purpose of the Chess Club. Membership was based on interest and a desire to learn the finer points of the game. These were fourteen active members in the organization. In cooperation with the Free University, Chess Club sponsored lessons for those who signed up.

An interest in journalism is the key to membership in Sigma Delta Chi, the professional organization for journalists. Promotion of the freedom of information and freedom of speech through the news media is the primary purpose of the group. Five delegates of Sigma Delta Chi and their advisor Tom Heuterman attended the organization's national convention in Chicago as representatives of the club.

Members of Lambda Alpha Epsilon are either police officers or are involved in a program leading to degrees in police sciences or related fields. A channel of communication between interested students and an exchange of ideas pertaining to law enforcement are gained through membership. Various field trips and guest speakers provided additional insight for the group.

The prerequisite for membership in Alpha Phi Sigma, the National Police Science Honor Society, was scholastic superiority. As the parent chapter, Alpha Phi Sigma was active in organizing two new chapters. Slade Gorton, Attorney General for the State of Washington, was the guest speaker at the annual initiation banquet. In addition, the chapter sponsored the second annual picnic for Police Science majors.

The Mu Beta Chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, the music honorary for women of at least sophomore standing with a music major or minor, provided a busy year for its members. Representatives attended the sisterhood's national convention in Chicago last summer. During the year the group sponsored silent movies for their fund raising project. The primary goals of the organization are recognition of scholarship and musicianship, and the promotion of friendship within the group itself.

IK's is a men's honorary with membership attained by meeting the criteria of service set up by the organization. An active group on campus, IK's consists of close to 70 members.

An active group on campus, Spurs was a service organization consisting of 50 sophomore women tapped in the spring of their freshman year. The members were selected on qualities of leadership, scholarship, and service. The group's purpose served the university and community to support the activities in which the student body participated.

Service Organizations Support Campus

Honoraries Serve Campus Community

Alpha Phi Omega was founded as an organization of college men and women seeking to help young people get a good start in life. The WSU chapter maintained this tradition of service and cooperation with youth in various ways including sponsorship of the Handsome Harry and Sweet Sue contest from which proceeds went to charity.

Brotherhood in Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia this past year meant striving for the advancement of music's position in American society. Participation in projects throughout the year enabled music students to promote this cause and foster a sense of fellowship among members.

Sigma Tau Alpha is a Rainbow honorary and service organization. The prerequisite for initiation into Sigma Tau Alpha is Rainbow membership. Projects for the year included collecting stamps for a cancer drive, and decoration of trays for a retirement home.

There were primarily two objectives of the Student Association of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. The first was to bring outstanding entertainment to the WSU campus. In November the association featured the Young Ambassadors, a group from Brigham Young University. In April, the American Product provided the entertainment.

Another purpose of the Student Association was to assist in more effectively bringing the influence of the church and teachings of the gospel into the daily lives of the Latter-day Saints during their college years.

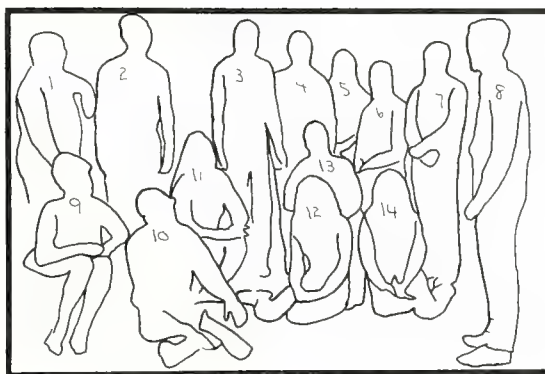

Christian Organizations Encourage Fellowship

The Christian Science Organization presented all persons interested in Christian Science a chance for group activity on the college level in that branch of religion. Members gained spiritual growth and close contact with others of mutual faith.

Cougar Christian Fellowship was the WSU chapter of Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship. The organization was non-denominational in nature, open to all students, or spouses of students, of the Christian faith. Its purpose was to encourage the kind of spiritual fellowship with Jesus Christ necessary to provide Christian growth, which will help people to live the Christian life and lead others to a personal faith in Christ as Saviour.

Chapter activities are open to all; however, voting and office-holding privileges were restricted to active members. Any person who desired active membership in the chapter subscribed to the principles of the following Basis of Faith: 1. The unique Divine inspiration, integrity, and authority of the Bible. 2. The Deity of our Lord Jesus Christ. 3. The necessity of the substitutionary death of Jesus Christ for the redemption of the world, and the historic fact of His bodily resurrection. 4. The person and power of the Holy Spirit in the work of regeneration. 5. The "looking for the blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ."

International Students Share Experiences

The North American Indian Students Association gave interested students valuable insight into the culture and problems of the native American Indian.

The Pakistan Students Association provided its members the opportunity to project their country's culture and promote understanding and cooperation between citizens of Pakistan and the United States.

Arab Students Association furnished the Arab students on the WSU campus a chance to meet and exchange ideas about issues pertinent to their lives in the United States.

Casino Royale Legalizes Gambling

On March 27, through the efforts of the Special Events Committee, the CUB was transformed into a gambling casino, complete with roulette, horse races, blackjack, and craps. Your Father's Mustache, a banjo band, was the featured entertainment, in the Lair. Change girls, and dealers dressed in appropriate costume further enhanced the evening.

Individuals

we are more than just faces
 ...each of us
 is an unique individual with dreams,
 wandering hopes and an acute awareness of reality...but are we really aware of each other...?

Coman Has Active Year

Under president Jan Anderson, the 146 residents of Coman Hall enjoyed an activity-filled year. Annual events included the Tom Jones Halloween dinner, the Christmas formal dance, Pixie Week, Pixie Breakfast, and Sun Dance, besides the scholarship dinner. The relative smallness of the dorm provided an opportunity for its members to get to know one another and experience a close living group.

Activities Varied at Community

Interesting and informative speakers throughout the year offered an opportunity for the residents of Community Hall to listen to a variety of points on important issues. Lou-Ellen Peffer of HEP spoke about the difficulties and problems HEP students encounter. A pro-abortion group showed a filmstrip and held a question and answer period. A drug program was planned which included speakers, panels, and films. Pixie Week, Senior Breakfast, and a dorm picnic in the Spring completed the dorm's activities.

Davis Girls Active on Campus

One of the most unique aspects of Davis Hall is the smallness of the group, with only 101 residents. It allows for the closeness and friendly atmosphere of a sorority while retaining "independent" status. Besides participating in the traditional dorm activities—a spring formal dinner-dance, Christmas activities, a Scholarship Dinner, a dorm picnic, and Easter Egg hunt—the women of Davis Hall were active on campus contributing to the competitions, Spur Songfest, and forming intramural teams.

Duncan Dunn Forms Football Team

The Duncan Doers football team started the dorm's fall activities with the members pitted against fraternity teams. The winter formal held at Christmas was called "Sugar Plum Ball" and was a special dorm function. Special dinners throughout the year and scholarship banquets offered a change in regular routine. Speakers to the dorm included a fireman and a campus policeman. The May 8th Raunch Dance completed the dorm's activity calendar.

Scholarship Dinner Honors Neill

Neill invited several speakers to offer ideas to the people living there. President Terrell and a narcotics agent were among the lecturers presented. A scholarship dinner honored those residents achieving a 3.0 GPA or over. A Halloween party in the fall, a Christmas formal and a dorm picnic in May rounded out the year's events.

Orton Holds Annual Dances

The most unique aspect of Orton Hall was that it was the first dorm to have men and women on the same floor. Residents were involved in all intramurals in addition to dorm functions—co-ed volleyball, the Orton Hall Palouse Run, and the Little Orton Annie Contest. Dr. Robert Jonas spoke to residents on Referendum 20.

Perham Experiences First Year As Coed Living Group

Perham experienced its first year as a co-ed living group. Residents agreed it worked out well, as the men and women established a suitable living arrangement. Senators were elected on each floor and met occasionally to discuss ideas and problems. A guest at one of the formal dinners was Dean Ewalt. At another, Dr. Drake was the speaker on wine.

"Pleasantry" Draws Large Crowd at Raunch Dance

The women of Regents enjoyed an active year. They supported Cougar Spirit by making pep signs for the football team during Homecoming. During the fall and again in spring, Regents sponsored two raunch dances. Two scholarship dinners honoring scholastic excellence and a Citizenship Banquet were special events. Folk group Fredric and Chesley provided the entertainment for the spring fireside. A reception tea during Parents Weekend finished off the year.

Rogers Hall, the largest men's dorm on campus, continues its traditionally high involvement in activities offered during the year. For the third year in a row, Rogers collected the most money during the Sweet Sue—Handsome Harry fund raising drive. Several dances were sponsored during the year, highlighted by a spring formal. The annually sponsored Trap Shoot contest, Road Rally, and 12th floor games provided further involvement for residents.

Stephenson South Sponsors April Love Contest

Stephenson South coordinated many of its activities with the rest of the complex. Together they brought in speakers, displays, movies, and other things of interest to the students of the complex. The 320 men of Stephenson South sponsored the April Love Queen Contest, keggers, a winter and spring formal, and scholarship banquets.

Stevens' Traditions Important to Girls

The oldest and smallest dorm on campus, Stevens' traditions were important to the women who lived there. Pixie Week, the Christmas formal, scholarship dinner, and the Big-Little Sister Breakfast make up several of the living group's activities.

A wide variety of activities were enjoyed by the men living in Stimson. The two annual dances, Stimson Stomp and Bowery Brawl, were well attended and successful events. The Dorm party served to unite the residents as each section provided some sort of entertainment. Exchanges with most independent women's groups, a ski party on Lake Coeur d'Alene, parties on the Snake, and the Spring formal were significant happenings for the dorm.

Co-ed living was established in Streit and termed successful. Residents agreed that the set-up should continue. Most of Streit's activities were planned in conjunction with Perham. Two raunch dances open to the public and a Pajama Dance with Perham highlighted the year. Various floor parties and impromptu get togethers typified the living style of Streit.

Wilmer Residents Observe Traditions

Traditions observed by the 117 women of Wilmer this past year were the White Breakfast at Christmas in addition to the Christmas party and Birthday dinner. A scholarship banquet, spring formal, Halloween costume party, and dorm slumber party constituted other dorm functions. Homecoming, Parents' Weekend, and Women's Intramurals provided an opportunity for campus involvement.

Alpha Chi's Work With Mentally Retarded

Main activities for the 56 members of Alpha Chi Omega encompassed such things as participation in the Racism Workshop, Phi Delt Turtle Race, Sigma Alpha Olympics, the AKL Softball Championship, and Greek Week. Unique to the sorority was its new project to work with the mentally retarded children of Pullman during Christmas, also Altruism Week, the "Carnation Ball", and the celebration of Founders Day on October 15. Speakers, including the Assistant Dean of Women Miss O'Donnell, Dr. Carroll, and Stan Berry, provided the women with new thoughts and ideas.

"Season of the Witch" highlights fall calendar

Heading the list of fall social events for Alpha Delta Pi sorority was the "Season of the Witch" pledge dance. A pledge sneak, Christmas dance, annual Indian raid to Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, scholarship dinner, and Founders' Day festivities filled the remainder of the year's calendar. The ADPi's welcomed Sibyl Neuenschwander, an exchange student from Switzerland, into their living group. Under Margaret Anderson, president, the members experienced a rewarding year.

Racism Discussion Informs AGD's of Viewpoints

Energy was required in order to attend and participate in the many AGD activities. The year began with the annual pledge dance, Christmas fireside, and traditional caroling exchange with the Theta Chi's. Racism discussion groups and the organization of a song group for serenades were new additions to the sorority's plans for the year. A spring cruise on Lake Coeur d'Alene, an exchange with the Kappa Sig's for a spaghetti dinner, and the annual houseboys' Turn About Day were only a few of the other happenings enjoyed by the 56 members under their president Joan Hoagland.

Initiation For AKL's Means Service

Under the leadership of President Jay McGath, the 48 men of Alpha Kappa Lambda enjoyed an invigorating year filled with activity. Winter initiation involved a visit to Lakeland Village where they organized a basketball game with the Lakelanders as the team and cheerleaders. Campaigning for the Lewis-Schlect team was undertaken by the house in March. The annual "Golden Rose" formal, regional conclave held at O.S.U. with participants from all northwest chapters of AKL's, and the sorority softball tournament in May finished off a rewarding year for the members.

Sensitivity Weekend Aids House Communication

The 52 members of Alpha Tau Omega, under Larry Tuke, the president, began the year's activities with the annual fall pledge dance. The "Roman Function" dance, fall cruise with the ATO's from Idaho, sensitivity weekend for house leaders and a Christmas party for ATO Little Sisters, also rounded out the year. Alumni were cordially invited to help celebrate Founders' Day festivities with the fraternity.

Scholarship and Athletics Important to the Beta's

Scholarship and athletics held dual importance for the 49 members of Beta Theta Pi this year. Speakers and panels from campus and community brought members into perspective about pertinent issues of today. The Beta Rummage Sale, barn dances in Spokane after several of the home football games, a Coeur d'Alene cruise, community projects, and participation in student government were among other activities.

Fire Damages Chi Omega

Although a fire destroyed part of the Chi Omega house, it did not damage the spirit of the 55 members. Activities and traditions such as Christmas caroling with Farmhouse fraternity, the pledge dance "Frolicking in the Frost or Snuggling in the Snow," a sensitivity training experience in April, and an Easter service with retarded children as special guests, continued as scheduled. President Janet Boston made sure the members experience a fulfilling year.

Pansy Breakfast Honors Junior Women

A multitude of activities filled Delta Delta Delta sorority's calendar. Among the most outstanding were the two scholarship dinners, Christmas fireside, "Pine Tree Party" for alumnae's children, Housemother tea, barn dance, and the Pansy Breakfast which honors the junior women with high scholastic standing.

The 56 residents held a racism workshop of their own with discussion, speakers, and films in an attempt to further orient themselves with the issues of the day. Also periodically the group had faculty as guests to their house in hopes to bring about closer relations between the faculty and students.

Delta Chi Hold Formal at Priest Lake

Although Delta Chi boasted fewer members than many of the larger fraternities, events and activities were not similarly limited. The year began with "Wet and Wild" the annual pledge dance and continued, including a Christmas dinner and formal, a spring formal on Priest Lake in April entitled "White Carnation", and a collection drive for the Mother's March of 'March-of-Dimes'. The 26 men of Delta Chi under Larry Richmond experienced a fulfilling year in their fraternity.

Fijis Experience Active Year

Two annual fall events highlighted Phi Gamma Delta's calendar. The "Purple Mirage" was the theme of the pledge dance which was followed later in autumn by the annual fireside. A Christmas party and the formal, held a week after Semester Break, contributed to make the winter months exciting and fulfilling. The Fijis experienced a decidedly active year.

Delta Gamma Helps Pullman Grade Schools

Shelia Reeder led the 58 members of Delta Gamma sorority through a busy year. The pledge dance "Let Me Take You Higher" began the scheduled events for the year. A Christmas party for the alumnae's children, participation in Songfest with Delta Upsilon fraternity, and the spring cruise in April provided the sorority with year long activities. A special project for Delta Gamma was helping to administer eyescreening tests to Pullman grade schools.

Delta Tau Deltas Establish Rolling Record

The 45 men of Delta Tau Delta did more than talk about ecology this year. Over Spring Break members rolled a keg a world's record distance from Pullman to Tumwater and the Olympia Brewery. At the same time one ton of glass and tin was picked up and at the end of the trip presented to Governor Evans. The rest of the year had its social events—the fall pledge dance, Christmas smorgasbord and dance, a spring formal, Toga Dance, and masquerade dance in November.

Cruise and Roundup Head Spring Events

"Its Been a Long Time Coming" was the title of the pledge dance held by Delta Upsilon fraternity. This event began the year for the 65 members, but a host of others followed. A Christmas party, pajama dance, the "Winter Sweetheart" formal, and the spring cruise and roundup held on Coeur d'Alene lake, summed up the year's functions.

Gammy Bugs Compete With Santa

The 54 women of Gamma Phi Beta went all out for the Christmas season with a week of Gammy Bugs (secret santas) and a big Christmas party at the end of the week, complete with Santa and one of his elves. Various members held campus offices and were involved in many campus committees. The pledges took part in the Lambda Chi Watermelon Bust and Phi Delt Turtle Race. Among traditional house activities were special dinners, exchanges, firesides, and a spring formal.

Thetas Enjoy Seasonal Activities

The 55 members of Kappa Alpha Theta, working under President Janet Lasater, sponsored a number of activities this year. A Triad Dance was held October 31. Christmas brought with it the beauty of a winter formal, and spring found members enjoying the out-of-doors on a cruise. Campus involvement included a Homecoming booth. The Thetas also spent time at the Epton House working with retarded children.

Kappa Deltas Sponsor Children

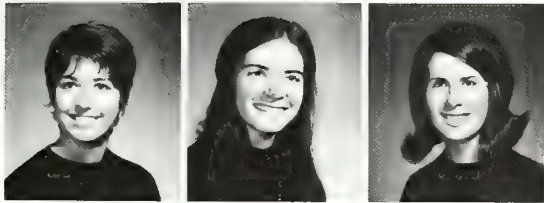

The Kappa Deltas sponsored again this year children at Epton House and Lakeland Village, both established to care for retarded children. The house's foreign exchange student was Hannaka Kebebe, a sociology major from Ethiopia.

The pledge dance, "2001 Space Odessey," held in December, the White Rose Formal in March, and a spring cruise on Coeur d'Alene provided social activities for the members of Kappa Delta.

Kappas Celebrate 100th Anniversary

Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority initiated several new projects. Under President Jan Cooper the 56 members held a Founders' Day Banquet honoring the 100th year anniversary of their sisterhood. The main goal established by the officers was to design a more meaningful pledge program, tying the sorority more closely to campus and world activities.

Traditions were still important. Such activities as the Big-Little sister fireside, a cruise on Coeur d'Alene Lake, plus an exchange with their Idaho chapter, made a year of fun, excitement, and learning for Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Wine and Spaghetti on Menu for Special Dinner

An annual pledge dance began the year's activities for Kappa Sigma. A winter formal held in Spokane and the wine and spaghetti dinner with Gamma Phi Beta, Alpha Gamma Delta, and Alpha Delta Pi were two of the big winter activities, followed later in the spring with the annual cruise on Lake Coeur d'Alene and a spring dance. The 60 members were under the guidance of President Grant MacLean.

The Watermelon Bust remains a Tradition

The traditional Watermelon Bust headed the fall events for Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. Other annual events; the Christmas fireside, spring formal, spring cruise with the ATO's, and the pledge dance "Rag Time Ball" contributed to the full ledger for the 65 members. The men also participated in various projects and other activities under the leadership of their president Tim Holbrook.

Lewiston Orphans Entertained by Phi Delts

A rewarding and busy year was experienced by the 60 members of Phi Delta Theta. Fall activities began with the pledge dance, "Phi Delt Ball," and followed with the "Phi Night Experience" pajama dance, and later the spring cruise on Lake Coeur d'Alene. Their community service day involved a picnic and baseball game in Lewiston for orphans. The annual turtle race was again sponsored by the Phi Delts during Parents' Weekend. A weekend camping and fishing trip was held for the members instead of a spring formal.

Phi Tau Picks Pledge Princess

Selection of the Phi Kappa Tau Pledge Princess was among traditions upheld by Phi Kappa Tau this past year. Speakers from the Placement Office, College Life Insurance, and Marine Corps informed members of their various services and opportunities. Social activities included the "Rose Formal," a fall pledge dance and Spring Cruise. The chapter also planned to adopt an orphan.

Phi Kappa Theta Remodels Entire House

The most important changes in Phi Kappa Theta were the revision of the constitution, pledge program, and initiation and remodeling of the entire chapter house. Effort was made to establish an alumni association through an alumni reunion. Traditions upheld by members included a scholarship dinner and awards, Turnabout Day, a pledge sneak, a Christmas party, and a spring formal. Intramurals constituted a part of their campus activities.

Steak or Beans - Which do you get?

Steak or beans was the menu for the 50 members of Phi Sigma Kappa, depending on their scholastic achievement. Those men attaining a 3.0 GPA or above ranked a steak while the others sufficed on beans. Activities for the house included a Military Brawl, Western dance, Founders' Day formal, Housemother's party, a Christmas party, and both a fall and spring cruise. A new project for the Phi Sig's was their joint effort in building a basketball court. Ken West was responsible for directing the action for the fraternity as he was the elected president.

1970-71 Filled With Various Experiences

A long list of varied activities made the year for Pi Beta Phi sorority an energetic one. Besides scholarship and philanthropic dinners, the members participated in Homecoming and held their annual pledge dance. Guest speaker at the scholarship banquet was President Glenn Terrell, and Mrs. John, the Pi Phi's Province President, visited the house to help coordinate sorority goals. Under President Linda Roe, the fifty members experienced a rewarding year.

Year Marked the 100th Anniversary for Sigma Kappa

The pledge dance "Snowbust" and later the Christmas party for children of alumnae started off the year for the 45 members of Sigma Kappa sorority. The year marked the 100th centennial anniversary for the sorority and was celebrated with a tea. A spring cruise in April and the house formal "Close to You" were special spring functions. A first this year for the Sigma Kappa's was the replacement of the house meeting every other week by a guest speaker. Guests included representatives from the Placement Bureau, H.E.P. and the Counseling Service.

Theta Xi's hold Functions with Little Sisters

Many of the functions of Theta Xi were held with the Little Sisters of the Unicorn. At Christmas time an exchange was held and the Little Sisters helped decorate the house tree. At Halloween, pumpkin carving gave members and the Little Sisters a chance for an informal get-together. The pledge dance was held May 8th. Initiation included cleaning up the Palouse River, the road to Albion, and the stadium for the WSU-University of Idaho Football game.

...WATER

Long-legged mushroom man has come beside the water.
And taken up with Mary Jane,
the teacher's only daughter.

Shaking chicken,
broken neck.
Steel-sharp knife cut through the skin.
Pump the molten seashore in
And cover the rocks with poison.
Rattlesnake lover in the walls,
has taken all he can hear.
He sells it to Mathiason, who prints it.

"The streets of our country are in turmoil.
The Universities are filled with students rebelling and rioting.
Communists are seeking to destroy our country.
Russia is threatening us with her might.
And the republic is in danger.
Yes-danger
from within and without.
We need law and order!
...Without law and order
our nation can not survive..."

Jump wheedle stick
at a certain bottom level.
Say you'll give a good time
beside the water.
Cunning little crackerbarrel,
queen of cutie pie eyes.

SCENE 1: THE PENTAGON!

A very special sea.
A very special sky.
A khaki GI ration,
special way to die.
So long.
Bye, Bye, Bye.

By the time you have finished leafing through the pages of this yearbook, it is hoped that you might have captured a glimpse of "time" that is uniquely your own. As the statement of any year, "This year is the first year of the rest of your life", it is difficult to catch all the moods, the scenes, and the happenings.

This yearbook is different in format from past Washington State yearbooks. We have divided the book up into two parts. The first part is "The University"—the creative, hopefully interesting part of the book, and the second part being "The People"—including the organizations, and Washington State's "blind date guide"—the living group sections.

A yearbook is successful only if it helps to relive past experiences as the years go on. This is what we hope the 1971 Chinook will do for you.

Many people are involved in the creating of a book such as the Chinook. I would like to especially thank Maynard Hicks, our editorial advisor, for his comments and wisdom in tense moments. A special thanks to Dale Schell for his help in all phases of the book. And of course to the entire 1971 Chinook staff and volunteers who actually created the pages and put forth the effort, often late at night and on weekends, to push them to completion.

CREDITS

Jeff and Carnie McArthur, for the talented artwork which they created. Brad Munn, for his help and assistance in the sports section of the book. Wes Calvert, for being our "watchdog" so that we wouldn't exceed the budget. WSU Photo and Student Photographers for all their photography work. Don Griffin, for his free-lance photography work. Pischel Yearbooks, Inc., our printer, and all the people who helped us. Keith Cole Photography for doing the individual student pictures.
